EPICS STAGE UPROAR IN ASSEMBLY

THE DAILY WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON, Friday, May 24.

A dinner party took place in the capital the other night that did not get into the social news columns—and for a very good reason.

The gathering was a stag affair attended by some 30 democratic senators, plus Vice President Jack Garner and Postmaster General Jim Farley. Host was Pennsylvania's bachelor Senator Joe Guffey.

Up to the cigars and coffee, the dinner was no different than any other social get-together. But the rest of the evening was very different. There was plain talking about personal and party matters.

Garner did not speak. But Big Jim Farley and Floor Leader Joe Robinson made up for him.

Joe charged flatly that "certain radical democratic senators" were secretly allied with the republican party in an effort to destroy the administration. The Arkansan mentioned no names. But his listeners had no doubt about the identity of at least one man—Kingfish Huey Long.

Joe concluded on a personal note: "As floor leader of our party in the senate I have been the object of bitter attack from certain quarters. I want to say to you gentlemen that I am prepared to relinquish my post freely and willingly any time my colleagues desire me to do so."

This declaration aroused a dramatic response. Those present rose to their feet as one, cheered and applauded their floor leader.

Big Jim was no less frank. "I have been around quite a bit in recent weeks," he said. "And, just between us here in these four walls, there is no question that the administration has lost some ground. That means we must close up our ranks, cut out this pulling and hauling and bickering among ourselves.

"You gentlemen have been taking it on the chin. Well, I too have been getting plenty of hammering. And I don't mean only on Capitol hill. Some of my colleagues are a bit remiss when it comes to cooperation. But I'm not complaining. The President is boss and he is the man I'm serving."

BREVITY

THE record for the shortest letters exchanged between congress and the cabinet is held by Texas's pungent Maury Maverick and Agriculture's Undersecretary Rex Tugwell.

They met by accident in a Washington restaurant, after Maverick had written Tugwell in plain terms about a speech of the latter and what Tugwell should do to improve the next one.

On meeting Tugwell, Maverick was surprised to find that the Brain Truster was not sore. When he got home he dictated a formal letter, the entire text of which read:

"I was glad."

In reply he received a letter from Tugwell which read:

"So was I."

SELF-APPOINTMENTS

AT no time since the career diplomatic clique ruled the State department under Calvin Coolidge have the career boys had such a field day as at present.

They are appointing themselves to all the ripest and juiciest diplomatic posts. A long list of these is in the works. It includes:

George Gordon, now counselor of the American embassy at Rio de Janeiro, who will become American minister to Paraguay.

Leo J. Keena, now consul-general in Paris, who is to be American minister to Honduras.

Norman Armour, to be minister to Canada.

Hoffman Philip, now minister to Norway, to be American ambassador to Chile.

The only political appointment in the lot is that of J. Anthony Drexel Biddle of Philadelphia, who contributed $95,000 to the democratic campaign in Pennsylvania and who after turning down various other posts, at last will be made minister to Norway.

Decks Clear for Major Action as Several Measures Ready

SACRAMENTO, May 24. (AP)—The smoke of preliminary tax skirmishes over the $112,800,000 new revenue program of the joint steering committee disappeared today and left the legislative stage cleared for major scenes of action.

In quick-time order the senate and assembly put in shape for floor debate a number of important revenue measures last night and the biggest tax bill of all, the 3 per cent sales tax with essential foodstuffs exempted, sailed through the assembly by a 54-25 vote.

Only a motion of reconsideration, served by Assemblyman Rosenthal, Los Angeles, in the dim hope he might yet impose an all-inclusive exemption of foodstuffs instead of a limited program, held up transmittal of the Lyon-Hunt sales tax bill to the senate.

Action on Others

This favorable vote upon the largest revenue recommendation of the steering committee was supplemented by action on several other bills.

They follow:

1. Duval bill transferring $18,000,000 biennially in automobile property taxes from cities and counties to the state given a favorable recommendation by the senate revenue and taxation committee.

2. Same committee approved two bills and a constitutional amendment which would permit the state to issue $12,000,000 in bonds for permanent improvement to institutions.

Although the senate committee passed out the Duval automobile bill, the assembly motor vehicles

Transamerica Deal With America Trust Company Is Denied

NEW YORK, Friday, May 24. (AP)—Floyd B. Odlum, president of the Atlas Corporation, today denied reports that the American Trust company, controlled by Atlas, has been sold to the Trans-America corporation, Giannini Holding company.

"The American Trust company," said a statement issued by Odlum, "has not been sold to the Trans-America corporation, nor is any such sale under discussion or contemplated at the present time."

In San Francisco, meanwhile, possibility of Transamerica corporation acquiring the American Trust company with 91 branch banks in Northern California, kept financial quarters speculating today.

CONTROVERSY OVER CARDS CONTINUES

Santa Anan Tells How Warned Cato About Their Results

Revelations that E. Raymond Cato, chief of the California highway patrol, had been warned that his "gold courtesy card" system would create trouble and that traffic laws are being enforced in Orange county regardless of "courtesy cards," were made today in the controversy now raging over issuance of such cards to friends of the highway patrol chief.

The Journal learned from Wesley A. Taylor, chairman of the Rotary club safety committee, that last March he had informed Cato that "while I can appreciate that there may be a few officials to whom such cards might be appropriately issued, the issuance of such cards to your friends is absolutely certain, when such become generally known, too react definitely and unquestionably."

Mr. Taylor also warned Cato against continuation of the practice and said: "If I occupied your position I would not issue such cards—and I predict that, as such issuance becomes better known, you will hear a lot about them, and adversely."

Meehan in Statement

Capt. Henry Meehan, head of the California Highway Patrol in Orange county, issued a statement today in which he said, "I am not making nor am I trying to make any excuse for the 'gold courtesy cards' issued by Chief Cato, as that is his personal affair and none of my business, but when it comes to the manner in which violators of traffic regulations are handled in this county, that is some of my business.

"It has been insinuated that a highway patrolman would likely lose his job in the event he arrested anyone in possession of one of the chief's courtesy cards. In answer to such insinuations I will say that several persons holding these cards have been arrested in Orange county, and to the best of my knowledge there has been no attempt on the part of Chief Cato to even question the proceedings."

Meehan also declared that Cato has personally instructed him to make no discrimination whatsoever and to treat all violators alike whether or not they possess "courtesy" cards. He said Cato had instructed him "if an arrest is warranted, make it with apology to no one." This instruction, said Capt. Meehan, has been carried out to the letter.

Mr. Taylor said that the mat-

BONUS ARMY FORMING IN SOUTHLAND

100 Veterans Enlisted for Trip to Capital from Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES, Friday, May 24. (AP)—Nearly 100 World War service men enrolled in a new "bonus army" for a march to Washington within an hour after recruiting started today, leaders said. No date has been set for the departure.

Headed by Royal Robertson, leader of the Los Angeles contingent in the 1932 bonus army, a small group appeared at a vacant lot at Washington and Broadway today and hoisted a banner which read:

"California Bonus Army—Death March Division."

Robertson was joined by Paul Cunningham of Sacramento, Lew Hendrickson of San Francisco and Mike Habura of San Diego, leaders of bonus march advocates in those cities.

Robertson explained the "death march" on the banner referred to the weary days of pacing to and fro before the capital by the Los Angeles delegation three years ago.

Yesterday, Robertson estimated more than 6000 men in California would go on the new trip to Washington, leaving in automobiles probably from Sacramento and financing their way by exhibiting talking movies of the 1932 march.

Opposition to the trip was expressed last night by State Com-

Santa Ana Journal To Send Contando Singers to Fair!

The Cantando club is going to the fair!

The Journal is going to send it there.

The widely-known male chorus which concluded its present season Tuesday night in one of its greatest concerts, will be the principal attraction on Orange county day at the California International exposition and The Journal will pay the bill.

Such was the decision reached last night at a conference between a representative of The Journal and the directors of Cantando.

The Journal, impressed with the unusual work of the club and seeing in it a far-reaching influence for county unity, to say nothing of the publicity value to Orange county, offered to defray all expenses of the club incident to its appearance in concert at the great exposition. And the club directors, at a special meeting at the home of J. E. Lloyd, its secretary, voted to accept.

May Broadcast Program

This means that the great organization which has attracted the attention of music lovers all over Southern California, will make the trip in a body, spend a day and likely an evening at the fair, provide a formal concert in an auditorium on the exposition grounds and possibly have its program broadcast over a coast radio network.

The Journal, of course, is merely standing sponsor and defraying the cost. It will profit in no financial way from the undertaking. The club will not go as a Journal club or to advertise The Journal. In no sense is the trip to be an advertising or circulation scheme. There are no strings, no obligations.

The Journal is playing publicity Santa Claus to Orange county. It is following its editorial assertion of Wednesday that there is more than oranges in Orange county; that the Contando club is too great to be heard only in Orange county cities; that its excellent entertainment and wholesome spirit should be spread abroad and used to show the world the cultural advantages of this district.

V. D. Johnson Co-operates

The Cantando club and The Journal are co-operating with V. D. Johnson, publicity director for Orange county and with the Associated Chambers of Commerce. Mr. Johnson and representatives of the club will handle much of the details. Designation of the day that will be known as Orange County day will be made at a meeting of the Associated Chambers next Tuesday night. It will be sometime during the second week of June.

Mr. Johnson wrote yesterday to San Diego apprising the exposition management of the plan so it may be included in the official program.

CITIES FIGHT TRUCK BILL

Expressing opposition to a bill now before the state senate, which would take from municipalities the right to charge license fees for wholesale trucks passing through their limits, the Orange County League of Municipalities last night authorized a communication to their representative, Louis Burke, in Sacramento, expressing their feelings in the matter.

If the bill is passed, it would deprive Santa Ana alone of nearly $5000 in license fees each year, one city official estimated. Larger cities would find their revenue cut in proportion.

A discussion of another bill now under consideration in the state legislature, which would return the power of taxation of automobiles to the state, resulted in a heated argument, with the majority of the members of the league favoring the present setup. Bernard Brennan, city attorney of Glendale, and chairman of the state league's legislative committee, estimated municipalities would lose $30,000 for every 100,-

Warming the heart of a deserving crippled boy who is in drastic need of a wheel chair, American Legion members of Santa Ana voted last night on something that will linger long in the memory of Vern Carpenter, 340-pound paralytic victim who lives at 1325 West Second street.

A check for $29, collected during a meeting in the Veterans' hall, was turned over to The Journal today by Bert Casteix, Legion commander, who expressed the willingness of Post 131 to contribute to a cause which its members have found to be an exceedingly worthy one.

English Youths Rush For Jobs in Greater Britain Air Force

LONDON, Friday, May 24. (AP) The youth of Great Britain was responding with enthusiasm today to the government's appeal for recuits for the suddenly expanded royal air force.

Recruiting stations here and in other parts of the British Isles from Plymouth to Glasgow and Belfast had a rush of applicants for the 22,500 posts created under the new aerial program designed to give Great Britain parity in the air.

When the accelerated program is compared in March, 1937, Great Britain may have 6000 military aircraft of all types. The immediate project is to increase the first line home defense force from 580 to 1500 planes.

Jury Awards Injured Girl $2500 Damages

Injuries sustained by Miss Elise Dennis when the automobile in which she was riding collided with another machine were worth $2,500, a jury in department 2, superior court, decided late yesterday in awarding her that amount after hearing testimony in trial of her damage suit against I. L. Clarich. She had asked $15,000 damages.

Miss Dennis was riding in a car driven by Keith M. Hall at the time of the accident. She charged Clarich with recklessness in operation of his car.

According to testimony in the trial, Clarich had driven into a smoke cloud on the Talbert road, and his automobile collided with another machine. While he was backing his car away it struck the automobile driven by Hall.

GROUP MOVES TO HOLD UP BUDGET

Recall of Governor Is Also Objective, Says Leader on Floor

SACRAMENTO, Friday, May 24. (AP)—Climaxing a brief but bitter opening skirmish in the impending battle over the governor's budget bill, Epic candidates came out into the open today and frankly admitted they intend to block passage of the measure unless the administration consents to legislative adoption of some of the major Epic tax and social security proposals.

In an uproar of angry shouting, banging of clenched fists on desk tops and several narrowly averted fist fights, the assembly staged the most tumultuous session of the 1935 legislature in a wild outburst occasioned by remarks upon the Epic newspaper of Upton Sinclair.

In their first show of strength, the Epic bloc defeated an administration attempt to set the budget bill as a special order of business for next Monday afternoon.

Recall Is Objective

Recall of Gov. Merriam is also a major objective of the bloc, it was admitted on the floor by Assemblyman William Moseley Jones.

Jones' admission was made when Assemblyman C. C. Cottrell, who is attempting to steer the budget bill through the lower house, charged the Epic group with being "un-American."

"You fellows are trying to impose the will of a minority on the majority," Cottrell snapped at Jones after the special order motion had been defeated. "It's the most un-American thing you could do.

"I make the direct charge right now that you are trying to cause the disruption of our government and bring about the recall of Gov. Merriam."

Jones retorted:

"I'll confess to the latter part of your statement. We would like to see Merriam recalled."

Walking over to Jones' desk right after the assembly recessed for lunch, Cottrell angrily flung the administration's gage of battle down to Jones.

Flings Gage of Battle

"Now that we know just where we stand," he flared, "let's have this thing right out in the open. I know that you're a strong enough minority to block the budget bill, but go ahead. We'll fight it out in the open."

PRICE FIXING BARRED BY NEW PLAN

President, Leaders in Congress Decide on 21½ Months More

WASHINGTON, Friday, May 24. (AP)—President Roosevelt and house and senate leaders agreed tentatively today on a 21½ months extension of NRA and giving the recovery agency jurisdiction over business "substantially affecting" interstate commerce.

Price fixing would be barred.

They reached that understanding at a White House conference even as William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, was insisting before the house ways and means committee upon a two-year extension and describing as "shortsighted, reactionary and anti-social" those who opposed that. He said nationwide strikes would result if NRA were not continued at least two years.

Ready to testify later along the same lines was General Hugh S. Johnson, first boss of the Blue Eagle.

The White House conferees were Senators Robinson of Arkansas, democratic leader; Harrison of Mississippi, chairman of the finance committee; Speaker Byrns and Representative Doughton, (D., N. C.), chairman of the house ways and means committee.

GREEN ASKS TWO-YEAR EXTENSION OF NRA

WASHINGTON, Friday, May 24. (AP)—Condemning NRA opponents as "short-sighted, reactionary and anti-social," William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, today asked the house ways and means committee to continue the recovery union for two years.

If NRA should be killed, he testified:

"Unemployment will increase by leaps and bounds; wages will sink, sweatshops will spring up again all over the country; children will again go to work in factories and mills in great numbers and under shameful conditions."

The labor chief insisted the nine and one-half months' extension voted by the senate "is in reality a destruction of the NRA, more complete and more dangerous than would be a refusal to continue it in any form."

In New York last night, Green said there would be a nationwide general strike unless congress extends NRA two years and passes other legislation.

Addressing nearly 50,000 members of the federation, gathered inside and outside Madison Square garden in a mass demonstration, Green also threatened political retaliation against members of congress.

ROYAL WEDDING JOINS PRINCESS INGRID AND PRINCE FREDERIK

SPLENDOR AND POMP FEATURE CEREMONY

Bride Becomes Future Queen; Many Royalty See Ritual

STOCKHOLM, Friday, May 24. (AP)—In the 13th Century Church where King of the Bernadotte lineage in Sweden have been crowned, Princess Ingrid became the wife today of Crown Prince Frederik of Denmark and Iceland. By the same token she became a future queen.

It was a royal wedding, born of tradition, and executed with pomp and splendor but it had a aura of romance and the glitter of polished swords and burnished boots and the formality of court ritual.

"I, Ingrid, take you, Frederik, my lawful husband, to love you through sorrow and pleasure, and as a symbol I accept from you this ring."

With these words and the recital of the other vows of the Swedish marriage service, two people in love were wed—a blue-eyed young woman and a tall, dark-haired, studious young man.

Uniformed Pages

With the guests seated, and with uniformed pages at attention along the aisles, Archbishop Eidem of Sweden, and his assistant priests, entered the church and came slowly forward to a place near the high altar.

Visiting royalty, headed by King Leopold and Queen Astrid of Belgium, then entered through a special door to take their places in the royal pews directly in front of the altar.

Crown Prince Fredrik, escorted by his father, King Christian of Denmark, and by a special wedding escort including a master of ceremonies, was next to arrive.

Princess Ingrid, escorted by her father, Crown Prince Gustaf Adolph, then came slowly up the aisle. She walked to the measured beat of swelling organ music, followed by two royal flower girls, the little Princesses Regnhild and Astrid of Norway.

"Before God the omnipotent," intoned the archbishop, "and in the presence of this gathering, I ask you, Crown Prince Fredrik if you choose this woman, Princess Ingrid, as your lawful wife, to cherish her in both sorrow and happiness."

On Frederik's response the same question was put to Princess Ingrid. The wedding ring, a thin band of gold, was then accepted and blessed by the archbishop.

In Stockholm harbor, ships of the Swedish navy fired a royal salute.

A stately, colorful procession from the church followed, the royal newlyweds stepping into their carriage, in which they were to drive under cavalry escort the short distance from the church to the royal palace.

BONUS FORCES SEE EVENTUAL VICTORY

WASHINGTON, Friday, May 24. (AP)—Cash bonus forces, somewhat discouraged and disorganized by the size of the senate vote sustaining President Roosevelt's veto of the Patman bill, counted upon their strong majorities in both houses of congress today for eventual victory.

The decisive defeat of the Patman Bill, even by a minority vote, took the wind out of the bonus movement, temporarily at least. Several new proposals were advanced immediately, but the leaders waited to get their breath before plunging into a new drive.

On the other hand, the Patmanite forces pointed out that even in the face of President Roosevelt's unprecedented personal appearance against the bill it had mustered a majority of 14 votes in the senate and a vote of more than 3 to 1 in the house and contended that such majorities could not be blocked for long.

committee, by an 8 to 4 vote, tabled the Lyon bill to substitute a state weight and value tax on automobiles in lieu of all property levies.

More Tax Action

In still other directions but along the line of taxation, the legislature also chalked up action on the following measures:

1. The Knowland bill allocation another quarter-cent of gasoline tax funds or $3,000,000, to the cities for improvement of streets other than state highways traversing cities was voted by the assembly, 74 to 0, and goes to the governor, who is expected to sign it.

2. The assembly motor vehicles committee tabled the Heisinger bill to cut $1 off the $3 automobile license plate fee but it approved another Heisinger measure taxing Diesel fuel trucks from $50 to $150 per year.

Overriding the senate revenue-taxation committee by a 24-9 vote, the senate withdrew the Cronin graduated chain store license tax bill, the revenue from which has been estimated at $6,000,000.

The senate completed final passage of another highly important measure, the Nielsen bill permitting any political sub-division to issue revenue bonds for water and power development.

ture, a two-thirds majority of 54 is required to pass a budget bill. With apparently 27 pledged votes, the Epic bloc thus can prevent the administration forces from passing the budget.

The tumultous outburst occurred during a one-hour debate over Assemblyman Donnelly's motion to withdraw the Garrison "purity of elections" bill from the lower house elections committee. It was stranded there when members of the committee split 4 to 4 over sending it out.

The assembly voted, 50 to 17, to withdraw the bill from the committee, but only half the house joined in a bedlam of argument which Speaker Craig was powerless to halt for several minutes.

Start Calling Names

Debate on Donnelly's motion opened in orderly fashion, but when Assemblyman Wright of Whittier, a republican, referred to the Epic News, Upton Sinclair's campaign newspaper gubernatorial contest as "a gutter-snipe paper," all politeness was thrown overboard.

Assemblyman Ben Rosenthal of Los Angeles, a member of the Epic democrat group, leaped to his feet and angrily denounced Wright. He wound up his shouted tirade with the assertion:

"Mr. Wright stoops to the lowest tactics possible."

While Speaker Craig vainly rapped for order, Wright retorted:

"I stand by my words. They threw that Epic News on my lawn and it turned the grass yellow."

Confusion reigned throughout the chamber, with half the members of the lower house on their feet demanding to be heard. Order finally was restored, but it did not last long.

Assemblyman Geyer, Epic democrat of Gardena, provoked another outburst when he asked:

"Do you not believe that any assemblymen who had the courage to vote in favor of any publicly owned utility proposition will find it practically impossible to return in two years because of the slush fund provided by the privately owned companies who will be out to defeat him?"

But Speaker Craig shut off the debate.

MORE ABOUT CATO CARDS

ter of "courtesy" cards was taken up with Cato in a letter signed by himself on March 12, at the time the Rotary club launched its highway safety campaign. In reply, Cato informed him, "You are a man who has had considerable contact with the public and public officials, and know that one who works hard to do things, naturally brings down criticism from those who may feel that they have, in one way or another, been discriminated against."

Cato also informed Mr. Taylor by letter that he "had no apology to make" for his action in issuing such cards, but assured him that "the chief of the highway patrol practices what he preaches and does not excuse his friends from recklessness."

Referring to his issuing of gold "courtesy cards," Chief Cato's letter to Mr. Taylor said: "It is true I have given gold cards to some friends and officials; it is further true that this does not excuse anyone for violations of the law, with the exception of some federal government representatives on urgent business. As a matter of fact some of the holders of these cards have paid fines for speed and others have surrendered their cards for indiscreet action on their part. The latter instances are few, however."

Second Letter

In a letter dated March 20 Mr. Taylor replied to Chief Cato's statement that he "had no apology to make" and warned him that adverse criticism would undoubtedly follow the practice. He said:

I think your conclusion that the criticisms made of your 'gold cards' have their basis in malice or other unworthy motive, is entirely in error, as the gentlemen from whom I learned about these cards are men of high character and repute, and I am confident they sincerely believe the issuance of such cards to your friends is absolutely certain, when such issues become generally known to react definitely and unquestionably, just as has been the case in this instance. At any rate, if I occupied your position I would not issue such cards—and I predict that as such issuance becomes better known you will hear a lot about them adverely.

Get No Response

"Now this is frank, but the situation is so tragic that it is time to frankly discuss any and all things which, either directly or remotely interfere with a better enforcement of our traffic laws—and I believe such cards will inevitably injure the credit and prestige of your entire force."

According to Mr. Taylor, Chief Cato never responded to this second letter.

From Chief Cato's office in Sacramento today came a statement from an aide of Cato's saying that more than 200 of the cards have been issued.

MORE ABOUT TRUCK BILL

000 population if the bill is passed.

Lew Blodgett, city attorney of Santa Ana, said he believed the legislature, by passing the personal property tax bill, is "passing the buck" of adding an ad valorem tax to the counties and municipalities. He said there undoubtedly will be an ad valorem tax assessed in the future, and it was just a question of whether the state or the cities would get the criticism for the increased tax rate.

Lloyd Banks, city auditor of Santa Ana, read a paper on the subject of budget control. He brought out that taxpayers today are more tax-conscious than ever before, and that there is a continual demand to cut taxes and reduce expenditures. Mr. Banks said one of the major problems in city government now is the bringing about of an understanding between taxpayers and government agents.

Mr. Brennan, who is constantly in touch with municipal affairs in Sacramento, gave a comprehensive survey of the various bills now before the legislature effecting municipal government. Some of the bills, he said, are only awaiting the governor's signature. He particularly complimented Orange county's representatives in the legislature on their efforts to put through the gasoline tax bill that allows cities one-quarter of a cent from the gasoline tax for work on major traffic arteries other than those controlled by the state.

MORE ABOUT NRA PLAN

strength until we get our rights," he said as the vast crowd roared its approval.

"That is no idle statement. I mean just what I say. Furthermore, the workers can mobilize our political strength and order those men who deny us to stay at home when they stand for re-election."

HOOVER HITS AT BOYCOTT PROPOSAL

PALO ALTO, Calif., Friday, May 24. (AP)—Former President Herbert Hoover today issued a statement characterizing as "not American" use of the boycott to enforce the NRA.

"American labor," his statement asserted, "will not long stand for price fixing, limitations of output, stifling of competition or any other of the monopolistic and fascist practices inherent in the NRA. Its enforcement by bureaucratic coercion, intimidation and boybott are not American."

CCC LEADER SENTENCED

LOS ANGELES, Friday, May 24. (AP)—Two years' imprisonment at McNeil's island penitentiary today awaited George Bottoms, former office manager of a CCC camp in San Diego county. Bottoms pleaded guilty to charges of forging and cashing eight $71.25 government checks.

AS EASY AND AUTOMATIC AS Shifting Gears!

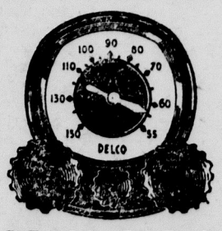
ONCE you have a Delco Auto Radio installed in your car, you wouldn't be without it for the world—you wouldn't miss the radio enjoyment wherever you drive.

Listening to a radio while driving does not distract your attention. In fact, it tends to reduce reciprocal conversation.

Inasmuch as you listen to the radio with your ears, your eyes are free to watch the road. When shifting gears, you do not take your eyes from the road.

FOR YOUR CAR



DELCO RADIO

Tuning an auto radio is as easy and automatic as shifting gears. By simply rotating the dial with the finger tips the station and program desired is secured.

Delco Auto Radio will liven up your automobile trip—come in and let us show you how to increase your driving enjoyment.

There are four new 1935 Delco Auto Radios and only Delco has Syncro-Tuning.

MEN BACK FROM PRORATE MEET

A group of Orange county farmers, including A. J. McFadden of this city, had returned here today after appearing as part of a statewide delegation of 500 at a hearing before the senate agricultural committee at Sacramento Monday night, in connection with proposed amendments to the prorate law for controlling agricultural production.

Contrary to other reports, the agricultural council, consisting of representatives from cooperative marketing groups, has been working closely in cooperation with state farm bureau leaders, Mr. McFadden said today. The amendment as recommended by the committee for passage was a result of the joint efforts of these groups, and not a compromise, as was previously reported in some sections, Mr. McFadden explained.

The amendment is intended to clarify the prorate law and make it more workable, he pointed out. It is expected that it will be the subject of conference between assembly and senate groups, each house having approved the proposal in slightly different form.

COURT BRIEFS

Helen Hauser, acting as executrix of the estate of Carrie Luella Hicks, deceased, has filed suit in superior court to foreclose a mortgage on Laguna Beach property given as security on a $5,000 promissory note. Defendants in the suit, who also executed the promissory note, are the Coast Industries, Inc., adjudicated bankrupt, Feb. 3, 1928, in federal court, George D. Johnston, president, Jack E. Adams, secretary of the corporation, and others.

Quiet title to property in San Clemente is sought in a suit filed in superior court by the Bank of America National Trust and Savings association naming William A. Gadd and others as defendants.

POLICE REPORTS

Police department records today contained the following reports:

Crowing roosters and noisy ducks disturbing residents in 1000 block on West Fourth street.

Mrs. Basil Underwood reported bicycle stolen.

The car of R. A. Howe, 901 South Ross street, reported stolen, was returned to the owner at 1:50 a. m. today.

SHOWS VIEWS OF MID-WEST DUST

It will take a lot of rain to completely settle the dust that recently shrouded the middlewest, it was indicated today in photographs displayed by Dr. Elliott Rowland of this city.

One picture shows Garden City, kans., at 5:15 p. m., slightly hazy, but still visible. Another photo taken 15 minutes later shows nothing but vague silhouettes in darkness punctured by street lights.

The dust storms arrived in rolling billows like smoke, the pictures indicated. The snapshots were sent to Dr. Rowland by Dr. R. N. Troup of Garden City, who was a recent visitor here.

GARDEN GROVE HIGH STAGING COMMUNITY DAY NEXT WEDNESDAY

INVITE PUBLIC TO TAKE PART IN PROGRAM

GARDEN GROVE, Friday, May 24.—Community day will be observed by the Garden Grove High school next Wednesday with a series of events and a diversified program in which the public is invited to participate. Work done in various departments of the school will be exhibited between 1 and 9 p. m. Exhibits will include the showing of Spanish projects in room 10; commercial geography, room 12; home economics, room 2; art and woodshop, room 12 and library; Argonaut mural, main hall.

Events of the day will open with a Lions club luncheon in the school cafeteria at 12:15 p. m. when John Ward, physical education director, will present students in an exhibition of boxing and judo wrestling.

Demonstrations by selected groups from the departments of agriculture, physical education, music, business and home economics will be given in room 1 from 1:30 to 2:45 p. m. At that time the Orange league championship tennis match between Garden Grove and Orange will start.

The dinner hour will be observed from 5:30 to 7 p. m. and arrangements have been made for a picnic supper in the gymnasium, the school P.-T. A. to provide coffee and tables, while those attending are requested to bring their own supper - d table service.

At 7 o'clock the P.-T. A. will hold a short meeting in the auditorium, when the coming year's officers will be installed. The school program, opening at 7:30 o'clock, will include numbers by the school orchestra, the girls' glee club, the boys' glee club and vocal solos, all to be given under direction of the music instructor, Leland Green. The dramatics class of D. S. Jordan will present a one-act play, "Getting Square With the Boss."

GROUP VISITS GARDEN

MARY EDITH HUFF IS HONORED AT PRE-NUPTIAL PARTY

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Friday, May 24.—Miss Mary Edith Huff was honoree at a pre-nuptial shower given at the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Gallienne, recently. Miss Huff, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Huff of Wintersburg, will become the bride of Rev. Al Casebeer, young minister of Longdale, at the Christian church here June 21.

The entertainment was given by Mrs. Margaret Payor and Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Worthy.

Guests were Mr. and Mrs. Douglas B. Shipway, Long Beach; Mr. and Mrs. Ernest H. Lihou, Long Beach; Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Archibald, Huntington Beach; Mr. and Mrs. Carl Snider, Long Beach; Mr. and Mrs. Al Casebeer, Los Angeles; Mr. and Mrs. Ben Honold, Huntington Beach; Mr. and Mrs. Earl Pryor, Midway City; Mr. and Mrs. Claude Frederick, Huntington Beach; Mr. and Mrs. Glen Flawes, Huntington Beach; Will Gallienne and Mr. and Mrs. Pearl Elliott, Wintersburg; Winifred Gallienne, Miss Fern Greenwald, Rev. and Mrs. J. G. Hurst, and daughter, Dorothy, and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Lake, Huntington Beach; Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Huff, Wintersburg, and daughters, Mary Edith, May, and Arleen; Justice Chris P. Pann and daughter, Bertha; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Gallienne and daughters, Patricia, Marjorie, and Gladys; Mr. and Mrs. T. Salla, Long Beach; Bert Mallectt, Wintersburg; Harry Johnson, Long Beach; and Fred Locke, Huntington Beach.

NATIVE OF SPAIN DIES IN BREA

BREA, Friday, May 24.—Mrs. Dominica Landa, 44, native of Spain, died at the family ranch home east of Brea yesterday. Surviving are her husband, Frank; son, Simon; daughter, Sophia Landa; a sister and three brothers in California, and a sister and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Santos Layana, in Spain.

Funeral announcement will be made later from McAulay and Suters funeral parlors in Fullerton.

TO HAVE FIRST GRADUATION

LAGUNA BEACH, Friday, May 24.—Baccalaureate services for the first graduating class of Laguna Beach High chool will be held in the Episcopal church Sunday evening, June 9, at 7:30 o'clock, and graduating exercises will be held in the high school auditorium June 12 at 8 p. m., it was announced today by T. E. Simmons, principal.

Rev. Robert M. Hogarth, pastor of the Laguna Beach Episcopal church, will speak to graduates and their friends at the baccalaureate services, and Dr. George A. Warmer, pastor of the First Methodist church of Santa Ana, will speak at the graduation exercises.

GARDEN GROVE COUPLE MARRY

GARDEN GROVE, Friday, May 24.—At a quiet ceremony read Thursday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock in the Huntington Park Baptist church, Miss Margaret Lehnhardt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Iehnhardt of Verano road, became the bride of Henry Hunt, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Hunt of Newhope and Smeltzer roads. The Rev. Walter Pegg, pastor of the church, read the service.

Attending the bridal couple were Miss Frances Hammontree and Earl Henry. The parents of both the bride and groom also were present.

The bride wore a lace-trimmed pink ensemble with white accessories, while Miss Hammontree was similarly dressed in blue. Both bride and attendant wore corsages.

Following the wedding Mr. and Mrs. Hunt left for a trip to Yosemite. They will be at home in Santa Ana after June 1.

Mr. and Mrs. Hunt are both graduates of the Garden grove high school, Mrs. Hunt with the class of 1931 and Mr. Hunt the following year. He is associated with the Cal-Va Guernsey dairy as a retail dealer.

LIGHTHOUSE FOR AIR

Laguna Station Busy Place

LAGUNA BEACH, Friday, May 24.—Tourists in Laguna are often impressed by the great number of planes that pass overhead. Up and down the coast army and navy planes fly in such numbers that they are no longer a novelty to the residents. Two commercial air lines ply this route, with two more to operate this summer.

Lives are at stake. A sudden storm, a dense fog, a low ceiling—all these factors must be known by the pilots ahead of time.

No guess work. A trained, commercial pilot relies upon his radio earphones to get this information, as well as weather forecasts made up in advance of the flight. The U. S. department of commerce maintains a chain of weather bureau stations to supply it.

High up on the cliffs of the Arch Beacon section of Laguna is the station for this district. Upon first appearance it is merely an attractive little beach cottage with an excellent view. But that view plays an important and dramatic part in the maintenance of routine and safety in flying.

Days of Doubt Gone

Here hourly reports go out over a teletype system, information that at from 50 minutes to every hour is assembled and broadcast to all air pilots and ships at sea. The days of doubt and chance are gone forever as far as commercial flying is concerned.

Here is a picture of the hourly routine: A few minutes before 42 minutes to the hour—when Laguna (LU) reports—the operator determines the height of the ceiling by releasing a small hydrogen-filled balloon. When it reaches the cloud area, that is ceiling height, and this is measured on the basis of sea level. However, if the sky is clear, no appreciable ceiling exists.

At night a beam of light, set a known distance away from the station, is turned on. The top of the beam against the clouds is measured by triangulation, which is sighting through a clinometer that shows the exact angle from the station to the top of the beam. Then the height of the ceiling is computed.

Learn Sky Conditions

Next, sky conditions are determined. This includes type of clouds, fog, haze, smoke, dust, rain, mist, hail—in their different degrees.

Visibility is reckoned in miles. From this point the operator can see for miles up and down the coast and out to sea. Any obstruction to vision is reported.

Weather conditions, temperature, dewpoint humidity (computed by the amount of moisture in the air, starting at 100 as the saturation point) barometric readings reduced to sea level, wind direction—all of these conditions are reported every hour of the day and night.

Wind direction is determined by an anamometer, a simple instrument with four small light bulbs placed to represent north, east, south and west. If, for example, the wind is from the west, the bulb representing west will burn; if southwest, both south and west bulbs burn.

Recorded by Buzzer

Wind velocity is recorded by a buzzer that buzzes once a minute for every mile an hour the wind is traveling. Thus, a 10-mile-an-hour wind buzzes 10 times a minute.

All this information is recorded on a report sheet above the teletype machine ready to be transcribed over the wires. Station reports go on in sequence, beginning at San Diego and moving north to Oakland. The Laguna operator now has his report ready, and at exactly 42 minutes to the hour he is seated at his teletype machine and ready to make his report. When his turn comes, he types his data on the tape, and all other machines on the same hookup reproduce the same code.

He has—the same as all other operators—only five seconds leeway to come in. If he misses his turn he is allowed 30 seconds at the end to make his tardy report. If he fails at this point, too, he is required to file a plausible explanation with the department of commerce. Sometimes the power fails. But seldom is there a slip in this clock-like schedule.

Laguna Important Link

Due to the extent of flying over this area, the Laguna station is an important link in the chain of weather bureaus located at strategic points throughout the nation. Twice a day reports come in from all parts of the United States, Canada, Alaska, Mexico and ships at sea. Every six hours an aviation forecast map is made up for the western section of the country. And at regular periods reports are sent to Washington to be filed and used for the permanent records.

Night and day this work goes on. Mark Twain once said, "Everybody talks about the weather, but nobody ever does anything about it." The operator at the Laguna station, high up on the cliffs, doesn't do anything about the weather either, but what he has to say about it over the wires is significant and often dramatic. Grandpa's rheumatic knee and probable rain theory wouldn't go in this office. Facts the government wants, and facts the government gets.

SCHOOL GIVING CONCERT

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Friday, May 24.—Under the direction of Miss Margaret Squires and Mrs. Ruth M. Harlow, the music department of the high school will present its annual spring concert tonight at 8 o'clock. More than 150 students will take part.

Girls Glee club: "Indian Cradle Song," by Mathews; and "Butterfly," by Delibes-Gaines.

Boys Glee Club: "The Sword of Ferrare," by Bullard; and "Musical Trust," by Clokey.

RITES HELD TODAY IN ANAHEIM FOR MRS. R. A. SWORDS

ANAHEIM, Friday, May 24.—Funeral services were scheduled for 2 p. m. today for Mrs. Rebecca A. Swords, 58, resident of Anaheim for the past nine years, who died after an extended illness at her home, 720 N. Clementine street, late Wednesday.

Surviving are her husband, Henry M. Swords; a brother, James Henry Devore of Pennsylvania; and a niece, Mrs. Eva Crouch of Washington, Pennsylvania. Services are in charge of the Hilgenfeld Funeral home.

MISSION OPEN IN EVENING

SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO, Friday, May 24.—Visitors who travel to see the historical San Juan Capistrano mission during the summer months will have the opportunity of seeing the ancient adobe buildings and picturesque grounds in the evenings, announced Father Arthur J. Hutchinson, pastor in charge.

Never before have mission gates been open to the public after dark, but the increasing number of visitors who pass through San Juan Capistrano during the evenings and desire to visit the mission have necessitated opening of the gates from 6 in the evening until 10 o'clock, as well as during the day time.

Antique lanterns have been placed in the corridors and during the first week in June flood lights will illuminate both patios so that visitors may see the flowers and adobe walls. It is planned to keep the mission open to the public during the summer.

Column Left!

By FRANK ROGERS

Last night, although we have followed the ring "game" for several years, we attended our first professionally-staged amateur show. Albeit a bit lacking in finesse, the boys put on a nice show.

Fans—and the place was full of them—seemed far more exhuberant than the variety that attends the so-called professional fights. And if some one tells me they are the same people who put it on the line to see the we-get-paid boys go at it, we'll answer by saying that they absolutely are not.

They may be the same, that is, but they certainly do not act the same. Last night, at the least hint of excitement, they split their tonsils and their neighbors' ear drums with unorganized but highly-spontaneous cheering.

They might have been amateur cheerers, for all we know, practicing for a spot in some college rooting section.

Other first-time impressions:

"Kid" Way Middough is as good an announcer as we ever heard split an infinitive. There is color—the kind that is liked—in that dramatic tenor voice of his, and there is no end of enthusiasm sparkling in his eyes as he makes those near-falsetto announcements.

And he curbs hecklers with a rare squelching.

We've seen Freddy Gilmore, who called last night's bouts, in many other third-man roles. He always has been the kind the business needs and enjoys . . . if there were only more of him!

That was a rare touch, having comely lassies in slacks and sweaters doing the ushering . . . it gave a theatrical atmosphere to the place.

The ring proper offered the cleanest set-up we have seen in sometime. . . .very neat, very trim, very fair to both boxers and customers.

Caddymaster Lane of the Santa Ana Country club popped up, and while we were wondering what interest a golfing man had in the ring game he confessed that aside from golf he follows boxing, wrestling, midget auto races, dog races and other diversions in order of their appearance.

Bill Cole there, too, looking out of place without a bat in his hand.

How come so few of the boys were wearing mouthpieces?

Take-a-bow guests: Judge James S. Allen and Harold Murphy, a screen magnate.

Frankie Lockhart, a dynamic bit of humanity, was the standout performer of the evening with his digging-in tactics and a well-schooled pair of arms. His right cross clicks like it had been spoken to by a master, and his left jab had a nicely directed power.

We and a pack of the others thought more variety in the so-called music, along with a little softening, would be welcome.

HENESHAW SEEN AS NEW STAR

By CHARLES DUNKLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO, Friday, May 24. (AP) If perseverance makes a baseball player, youthful Roy Henshaw, that studious young left-hander with the Chicago Cubs, should be a pitching star before the finish of the 1935 season. Charley John Grimm, manager of the club, shares that opinion.

His National league record to date of 20 scoreless innings out of 21 pitched this season, indicates he is an excellent pupil. When the Cubs took Henshaw in tow in 1933, after a brilliant career both as a student and as a pitcher at Chicago, the lad possessed great ability, but needed schooling. So he was shipped to Los Angeles for a year under Jack Lelivelt, manager of the Angels, and he was recalled this season.

Manager Charley Grimm says of him:

"That boy has shown me so much that I wouldn't be afraid to start him against Pittsburgh, the Giants or the Cardinals. And he should be invaluable as a relief pitcher."

Needle fish, which are shaped like their name, have been known to dart clear through human bodies.

LE MON WINS MAIN EVENT AT OPENER

Frankie Lockhart Takes Honors With Knockout Over Tony Gayton

By FRANK ROGERS

Before a house packed with cheeringly demonstrative fans, amateur boxing made an impressive return to the local sporting world at the Orange County Athletic club last night. Battering and bludgeoning with his two heavy fists, Young Le Mon of Fullerton knocked out "Tiger" Jack Spears in the third round of the main event. They were light heavyweights.

Scarcely half a dozen seats in the 2200 capacity stadium were unoccupied as a jam-pack crowd held up the start of the performance several minutes. The customers were highly enthusiastic and found plenty in the eight-card bout on which to exhibit their spirits. The next card will be offered June 6, the management taking a holiday on Memorial day.

Lockhart Stars

Santa Ana's tinymite blond, young Frankie Lockhart, stole all the thunder of the evening by taking a third-round knockout over Tony Gayton. After going down for a cheap nine count in the first, Lockhart, who is a miniature hurricane on the aggressive, came back to take most of the play away from his fast moving rival.

A stinging right cross his best weapon, Lockhart chopped his rival badly just before he turned loose the knockout blow, a right cross flush to the button.

Le Mon's victory over Spears was as conclusive as you could wish, but thrilling in only the third round. Spears, top man in the hapless Ebony club stable of Los Angeles, had gone down twice in the second for long counts when Le Mon's long swings found their mark. End of the round, however, found Spears with plenty left and the insistent clanging of the timekeeper's bell failed to halt festivities for an added 30 seconds.

Le Mon Worried

Spears reached his peak with a short-lived flurry in the third as many of the clients were packing up to go home. He seemed to have the stalwart Le Mon worried until the Fullerton youth uncorked two short right jabs that lanfled on the lower part of Spears' jaw and he went down to a welcome count.

Tommyhawk Jones, 135, went on the warpath after Matty Jones, another of the many defeated Ebony boys who were on the bill. It was a seriocomic struggle for three rounds, with Hanchez winning the edge for his better marksmanship. Jones, a colored lad, finished fast and gamely and was popular with the crowd.

Paul Lerno, ambitious Garden Grove youngster, scored a technical knockout over the Ebony club's Willie Hayman in the fourth. Hayman went down twice for nine counts in the third.

Lopez Winner

Chief Lopez of El Modeno tallied a one-round knockout over Billy Fields near the end of the first round.

Doyle Richards, the old tongue sticker-outer, dropped a dull struggle to Frank Barago, the latter taking a ho-hum decision.

Santa Ana's Buck Durbin, 155, had an easy night's work when his opponent, Al Townson, suffered a badly sprained arm early in the opening round and had to quit. Durbin showed a nice ability and willingness.

Larry Fleming, a Wisconsin Swede who might have missed that colonists' boat to Alaska, trimmed Eddie Smith of Long Beach after a wild two rounds.

Freddy Gilmore, veteran arbiter, was referee, while Way Middough took a starring role as announcer.

Sam Samson is promoter at the O. C. A. C., and Ben Steffler is matchmaker.

20-30 Club Defeats Bankers; Brea, Fullerton, Irvine Win

CAPISTRANO TO PROTEST

In a lively contest marked by extra-base hitting, Brea's champions won a hard-fought decision from Placentia, 13-11, in an Orange County league nightball tussle at Placentia last night. The contest was preceded by dedication ceremonies for Placentia's new athletic field.

Undefeated Brea plays Garden Grove at Brea next Monday, and is favored to maintain its place at the head of the standings.

Garden Grove won a spirited battle from Olive, 6-4, in 10 innings at Olive.

Congdon Protests

Fullerton defeated San Juan Capistrano, 13-12, at Fullerton, but Manager Chet Congdon of the visitors entered a protest in the fourth. A Fullerton fly into left field brought in two runs. Congdon claimed the ball hit foul by almost two feet, and maintained the umpire confused the regular base lines with the coaching-box lines. Capistrano held a 10-4 lead until the fourth and fifth, Fullerton scoring nine runs to take command, 13-10. Capistrano scored once in the fifth and again in the sixth.

Vern Rockwell, Fullerton, broke his nose when sliding into home plate in the second. He rushed to the doctor, and returned to join his team in the fifth . . . Dick Joyce, Capistrano catcher, injured his arm warming up and could not play . . . Luc, regular first baseman, who filled in back of the plate, dislocated his thumb and was unable to continue.

Tough luck also struck Huntington Beach in its contest with Irvine. Erbie Peltzer and Paul Bowen, pitching regulars, were ill, and the Oiler "Bees" were forced to use Outfielder Starkey on the mound. Irvine won, 7-4, with a six-run rally in the first three innings.

TIGERS MOVING UP IN CHASE FOR FLAG

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR.

The strange situation which finds the two 1934 pennant clubs struggling to hold first division berths in their respective leagues seems due for a sudden overhauling if the spurt of the Detroit Tigers continues.

Mickey Cochrane's crew, playing a steady, consistent brand of ball, unmarked by fireworks, finally has climaxed a climb from the American league cellar by breaking into fourth place.

14 Victories

Since they struck bottom April 27 at the end of a six-game losing streak, they have rung up 14 victories against four defeats and finally moved past Boston into the first division with a 5 to 3 triumph over the Red Sox yesterday.

The rest of the American league program yielded to cold and rainy weather as did Cincinnati's effort to stage the first major league night game in history with the Phillies as their opponents.

The Cardinals, meanwhile, did their share toward the program of getting the world series out of fourth place by taking a weird 8 to 7 10-inning decision from Brooklyn and gaining a full game on all the other first division clubs except Chicago.

The Cubs, with a somewhat altered lineup, outlasted the league leading Giants to win 6 to 4 when Charley Root proved a better relief pitcher than Leon Chagnon and moved into second place.

The Pittsburgh fans put on a special show to honor Rabbit Maranville, former Pirate player, and the Bucs put the usual finish on the affair by beating the Braves and Maranville 7 to 1 with the aid of Arky Vaughan's eighth circuit swat of the year and punked the losers back into the National league cellar behind the Phillies.

Dan Scheuerman, restaurateur of Leoti, Kas., offers a "set 'em up" every day an inch or more of rain falls.

YESTERDAY'S STARS

(By the Associated Press)

PEPPER MARTIN, Cardinals—Pounded Brooklyn pitching for three hits and three runs, including winning tally.

BILL SWIFT, Pirates—Scattered nine Boston hits effectively to win 7-1.

HANK GREENBERG, Tigers—Fielded sensationally in game with Red Sox and knocked in three runs, hitting eighth homer.

CHARLEY ROOT, Cubs—Held Giants to three hits in five innings of relief pitching.

VAN KLAVEREN MEETS AZTECA

HOLLYWOOD, Friday, May 24. (AP)—Bep Van Klaveren, the Dutch windmill, and Kid Azteca of Mexico, welterweights, meet tonight in Legion stadium here with the Hollander holding an edge in betting.

F. N. BANK WINS AGAIN, 5-4

Joe Cornelius, one-time National league hurler of unequalled excellence, appeared in a Santa Ana 20-30 club uniform, and with more "stuff" on the ball than he has shown since his famed pitching days with the Stars, paced the service team to an easy 10-3 victory over the Commercial National bank's defending champions at the bowl last night.

Knocks Long Homer

Not content with fanning 11 bankers and limiting them to six hits, Cornelius knocked the longest home run registered this season. Joe's lofty blow came with none on in the sixth, the ball clearing the first section of the west bleachers. He rapped a double in the second, and was robbed of two other hits through stellar catches by Rod Smiley in centerfield.

The 20-30 team was forced to sign a new player, Jefferson at first base, just before the game. Claude Gregory, ace pitcher and Randolph Stickler have quit the club to accept jobs in Imperial valley, it is said. Cornelius will be available for mound service during the next few weeks.

Consecutive hits by Smiley, Vince McDonald and "Rusty" Sullivan produced the Commercial bank's only runs in the seventh.

The First National bank had a difficult time beating the M. E. South Seniors, 5-4, in the preliminary. Gene Bitt's homer with Clarence Pargee and Floyd Earle aboard manufactured the winning runs in the sixth. Pitcher Walt Jordan fanned seven of the Methodist.

Union Oil engages the M. E. South Juniors and the Elks play the Commercial Nationals in games next Monday.

LITTLE REACHES BRITISH FINALS

ST. ANNE'S-ON-THE-SEA, Friday, May 24. (AP)—William Lawson Little, jr., of San Francisco, the defending champion, this afternoon defeated Robert Sweeney, formerly of New York, three up and two to play, and gained the 36-hole final of the British amateur golf championship to be contested tomorrow.

MINIATURE GOLF TO LIVE AGAIN!

Course Will Be Reopened Here on June 1

Miniature golf courses, long thought to be doomed to exist only among forgotten shades of the past, are going to stage a comeback. For more than three years their tricky shots and baffling bridges, tunnels and corridors have existed only in the memory of Santa Ana folk.

But there's life in the old sport yet. Don and Betty Park, 613 South Garnsey street, are going to shatter precedent and give Orange county a chance to prove they still know how to execute the fancy maneuvers that once were so popular on hundreds of midget courses.

Mr. and Mrs. Park will open the midget course at Third and Bush streets on June 1, they said today. The spot will blossom again with flowers and shrubs, to provide a colorful background for the revival of the miniature sport. There will be music, they said, to celebrate the event. New felt on the course and other facilities will make the place just like new.

Mrs. Park, who is president of the Junior Ebell society, and Mr. Park, a well-known left-handed tennis player, will be in personal charge of the revival and will conduct the operation of the course. It will come to life daily at noon. Play will continue all afternoon and evening.

DRIVERS SET FOR TRIALS TOMORROW

INDIANAPOLIS, Friday, May 24. (AP)—Prediction of the first favorable weather since the start of qualifying trials for the annual 500-mile automobile race spurred drivers and mechanics to intensive practice for resumption of speed runs at 1 p. m. tomorrow.

Recent rains have prevented newcomers at the motor speedway from sufficient practice in negotiating the treacherous turns of the rough two-and-one-half-mile brick course. Mechanics hailed a "fair nad warmer" forecast which held the possibility of motor tuning under race conditions.

Two Escape Crash

Fifteen drivers turned a few experimental laps late yesterday, and two narrowly escaped another bad crash on the southwest turn where W. H. (Stubby) Stubblefield and Leo Whittaker, his mechanic, of Los Angeles, were killed Tuesday.

Maynard Clark of Milan, Ill., dashing into the turn at more than 100 miles an hour in a racer owned by Joel Throne of New York, skidded in a patch of oil. Clark pulled away from the outer wall and went into a dizzy spin as Wilbur Shaw, Indianapolis veteran, squeezed by on the inside of the track, barely missing him. Clark smashed into the lower wall, bending the frame of the car. None was hurt.

Shaw, who finished third in his first try at the speedway in 1927, and second in 1933, expects to qualify his front-drive speedster, owned by Gilbert Pirrung of St. Louis, Saturday.

Nineteen places in the starting field of 33 remain to be filled by drivers who turn the 25-mile qualifying test at more than 100 miles an hour average.

BOAT SERIES FOR NEWPORT HARBOR CLASSIC SATURDAY

LONG BEACH, Friday, May 24. (AP)—Sailing races which point toward the international star class series to be held off Newport Harbor in August, will be launched tomorrow by the Long Beach fleet.

A three-race series will be held with seven contenders including Bob Ziegler's Win Blu, which placed second to Glenn Waterhouse's Three Star Two, winner of the 1933 international championship and ahead of Hook Beardslee's By-C, the international defending champion.

S.A., Laguna in Badminton Play Monday

Interest in badminton, the sport that flourished here last season, will be revived Monday night when Santa Ana's club sends 14 players to engage in a series of matches with Laguna Beach.

Competition at Laguna probably will be followed with play against the Los Angeles Athletic, Claremont and Los Angeles Willard clubs, according to President Milan Miller.

Team Selected

Santa Ana will be represented in men's singles by Al Jasper, Orris "Slim" Davis, Ed Hall and Kenneth Adams. Three men's doubles combinations will be taken to Laguna—Milan Miller and Al Jasper, Orris Davis and Gorton Davis, Franklin West and Jerry Hays.

Miss Twila Heath, California women's singles champion; Pat Collins, Mildred Ware and Janet Diehl wil' play in singles, Miss Heath teaming with Miss Collins and Miss Ware pairing with Miss Diehl in women's doubles.

Mr. and Mrs. Miller, Miss Ware and Raymond Busch, Miss Collins and Gorton Davis, and Miss Heath and Orris Davis comprise Santa Ana's mixed doubles.

BRADDOCK IN GOOD SHAPE

By EDWARD J. NEIL
Associated Press Sports Writer

FERNDALE, N. Y., Friday, May 24. (AP)—James J. Braddock, if he lives, is going to be as fine conditioned a challenger as ever stepped into the ring when he meets Max Baer for the heavyweight championship out on Long Island the night of June 13.

The training camp of this Jersey Irishman, a few miles down the road from where Jimmy McLarnin and Barney Ross are preparing for their welterweight title battle Tuesday night at the Polo grounds, is more of a fistic abattoir than a conditioning ground.

It's the closest thing to the old slug-'em-silly school of preparation Jack Dempsey used to revel in than anything the heavyweights have seen since the old man mauler's training days.

In fact, there are times when the long shot challenger is practically fighting for his life against four of the biggest, roughest sparring partners they could find for him.

Long Right Swings

They tore into Braddock, under instructions to hit him with long right hand swings, a la Baer, and they played their parts so realistically that in the eight rounds they must have clipped him no less than 50 times on the chin.

Braddock has been doing this for a couple of weeks. He's going to do it for a couple more.

But he's getting into magnificent shape and with everything to win and nothing to lose, he never falters. He says he's got to win this one because his wife already is planning to send their two boys to Yale on his title earnings.

ANGELS HALTED BY OAKLAND

(By the Associated Press)

Los Angeles' bid for first place in Pacific Coast league standings was stopped, temporarily at least, today after losing to the league-leading Oakland club 4 to 1 yesterday.

Wind Carries Ball

With one out in the fifth, Steve Mesner sent a stinging double over second. Jimmie Reese grounded out and Walter Goebel sent a high fly into right field where the wind carried it away from Bernard Uhalt for the Angels' only score.

Gabby Street's Missions further entrenched themselves in the league's basement by losing the fourth straight to Hollywood, 6 to 2. Vince di Maggio poled out two singles and a homer.

Manager "Lefty" O'Doul unwrapped his split thumb and went into left field in the second game against Seattle to prevent the Indians from making a clean sweep of the series. The Seals lost the first of the double bill 5 to 4 and won the nightcap, 4 to 2.

New Duck Pitcher

Portland's newest acquisition to the pitching ranks, Chandler Spurgeon, who was sent them from the Yanks, hurled the Ducks to their third straight win over Sacramento last night, 4 to 3.

He allowed only four hits and one run until the ninth when the Solons landed on him for four hits and two runs. Then with two men on bases he calmly struck out Pinch-hitter Tony Boroja to retire the side.

Contests Tonight

Huntington Beach at Santa Ana.
Westminster at Olive.
Anaheim at Long Beach.

Struggling for sole possession of the lead they now share, Huntington Beach and Sata Ana square off at the bowl tonight in a National league "natural" serving as a red-hot climax to the past four rounds of night-ball competition.

The much-discussed battle begins at 8 o'clock.

National league and Southern California champions, and with a lineup apparently stronger than the famed '34 aggregation, Manager Joe Rodgers' Oilers come to town expecting to win only after the hardest game of the season. They respect Santa Ana, and needless to say, Manager Bill Cole's Stars respect them.

Sabella vs. Coates

Frank "Chico" Sabella, the deceptive righthander who did not allow the Stars a single run in Huntington Beach's appearances here last season, will match skill with Santa Ana's Jimmy Coates, another clever righthander, who averaged 12 strike-outs against Olive and Westminster.

Two Changes

Manager Cole will make two notable changes in his Santa Ana batting order, but Rogers said today that Huntington Beach would employ its usual lineup.

Comparative scores:

HUNTINGTON BEACH
H. B. Oilers	11	Anaheim	7
H. B. Oilers	21	Long Beach	4
H. B. Oilers	2	Olive	1
	35		12
SANTA ANA
Santa Ana	8	Olive	2
Santa Ana	2	Westminster	0
Santa Ana	13	Long Beach	2
	23		4

Raymond "Doc" Smith, second baseman, who has been killing the ball, will move to the clean-up position. Leavitt "Squirrel" Daley, in fourth spot last week, will follow Shortstop Francis Conrad in the lead-off role. Outfielder Rod Ballard, a consistent slugger, will sandwich in between Daley and Smith. Tom Denney, lf; George Preble, 1b; Tommy Young, 3b; Ben "Bomo" Koral, c; and Coates, p, will bat in the order named, Cole said.

Huntington Beach Lineup

Huntington Beach will lead off with Pete Osborne, rf. Orv. Schuchardt, cf; Bill McKinley, 3b; "Hen" Thiery, 2b; George Murray, lf; Joe Rodgers, ss; Bob Smith, 1b; Merv Lower, c; and Pitcher Sabella complete the Oilers' dangerous artillery.

Many fans will argue that Santa Ana's 1935 edition is as smart as the Star champions of '26, '27, '28, '30 and '31. There is no question but what its fielding is as good, and its pitching as effective. To date, the hitting has been virtually as consistent. But even if the present Stars do compare favorably with Santa Ana's past titlists, Huntington Beach may present a team that overshadows anything the Stars have vamped.

The champion Oilers will be clad in crimson, blue and grey uniforms. Santa Ana will be dressed in its new red and white. . . . Sid Allender and Joe Cornelius will do th officiating.

RANCHER'S WILL LEAVES MINOR BEQUESTS TO FAMILY, FRIENDS

SISTERS, NIECE DIVIDE BULK OF ESTATE

B. P. Clinnard Leaves $150,000 in Ranch And Valuables

After making minor bequests to friends and members of his family, B. P. Clinnard, well-known Santa Ana rancher who died May 18, divided the remainder of his $150,000 estate between three sisters and a niece all of whom live in North Carolina, according to his will which has been offered for probate in superior court.

The estate consists of 47 acres of land planted to walnuts, 23 acres in oranges and 20 acres in lemons, the property having an estimated annual income of $20,000. Personal property consisting of farm equipment and household furnishings was valued at $5,000.

The petition for probate was filed late yesterday by John Osterman, who was named executor and who was instructed in the will to keep the estate intact and operate the ranch, and not attempt to sell it "while the real estate market is depressed."

The first bequest was $500 to Mrs. Lillian M. Kommers of El Toro, a former housekeeper of Clinnard's. A similar amount was bequethed to William English of Santa Ana. Clinnard left his automobile to his brother, Sanford, declaring that in the past he had given him property sufficient that no other provision was made for him.

To Mrs. Dora Livengood of High Point, N. C., a sister, Clinnard willed is diamonds. The balance of the estate is to be equally divided between Mrs. Livengood, Mrs. Ida L. Botenheimer of Thomasville, N. C., Miss Lizzie Clinnard of the same city, sisters of the deceased, and Nellie Clinnard, a niece, living in High Point, N. C.

TO MEET MONDAY

An all-day meeting of the American Legion auxiliary Mother's club will be held in Veterans hall Monday. A covered dish luncheon will be served at noon.

TOO MUCH BRASS FOR MORRISON

Lions Have Fun With Another Kind of Card

This engraved card business is going too far, in the opinion of Justice of the Peace K. E. Morrison. The gold embossed affair he took from James Arnold of Los Angeles, who appeared on a speeding charge, was one thing; but the brass one that was flashed on Judge Morrison at yesterday's meeting of the Lions club in James cafe was something else.

The gold "courtesy" card was issued originally by E. Raymond Cato, state highway patrol chief. Judge Morrison made some pointed remarks about issuance of such cards to personal friends of Mr. Cato. He indicated that he disliked the practice.

And then—yesterday there appeared that piece of brass. It was engraved like this: Cops: Lay off my pal Abbey." It bore the "signature" K. E. Morrison. The thing was passed around freely among Lions at yesterday's meeting. Judge Morrison also appeared to frown on this practice. To make it worse, Abbey—Coroner Earl Abbey — got up and "admitted" Judge Morrison had given him a piece of brass. Altogether it was too much brass, he inferred.

However, Judge Morrison now has the brass card as well as the gold one. He and Abbey are both of the opinion the whole thing was a joke. But just the same, no one but Judge Morrison knows where the brass card is concealed.

YOUNG PEOPLE GIVING PLAY

With a large cast from the young people's department of the Spurgeon Memorial Methodist church participating, "Call It a Day," a play by Manta S. Graham, will be presented tonight at 8 o'clock in the church auditorium.

Preceding the presentation, a musical program including the following numbers will be given: trumpet duet by Stanley Sebastian and Onie Saunders; piano solo by Bill Beeman; piano solo by Virginia Adams; and vocal solo by Mrs. Irma Hoffman May.

Personnel of the cast will be Marvin Walton, Martha Heemstra, Wesley Farney, Mildred Goodwin, Joan Heemstra, Clifford Baxter, Bob Walton, Alice Upson, Margaret Fine, Helen Fine, Jean Upshaw, La Rene McMillan, Margaret Park, Tom Boyd, Ruth Heemstra, Janice Yetmar, Dorothy Montgomery, Margaret Goodwin, Barbara Goodwin, Kitty Walton, Lawrence Owen, Esther Heemstra, Dorothy Olson, Leona Baxter, Hazel Schwarm, Blanche Temple, Erma Owen, Howard McMillan, David Hunter, Audrey Barnes, Norris Barnes, and Mrs. B. Z. McKinney.

Prospects for an apple crop in northeast Kansas are above the five-year average, a survey by the state horticultural society indicated.

50 WOMEN WILL SELL POPPIES

Fifty members of the Santa Ana American Legion auxiliary will participate in a sale of poppies tomorrow when "poppy day" is celebrated throughout the United States.

Millions of Americans are expected to wear the red flowers in tribute to the men who gave their lives on the battle fields of France and Belgium in the World war.

An army of approximately 100,000 women will distribute the memorial flowers on the streets of practically every city and town in the country. Members of the local group will offer their wares throughout the day and will receive contributions for the welfare of disabled veterans, their families, and the families of the dead.

Arrangements for observance of "Poppy day" here have been completed by the women of the local American Legion auxiliary unit under the leadership of Florence Robinson, poppy chairman.

The poppies are paper replicas of the wild poppies of France which grew on the battle fields and war cemeteries. They have been made by disabled veterans working in 58 government hospitals and auxiliary workrooms in 40 different states. The local auxiliary unit will distribute poppies made at Navy hospital, San Diego, and San Fernando hospital.

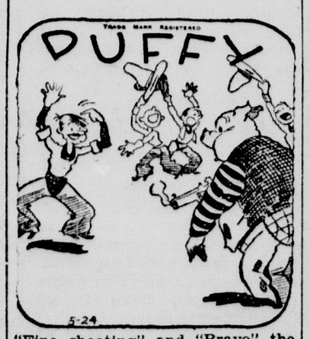
The bulk of the money contributed for the poppies will be retained in this city to be used for the relief of needy veterans and their families during the coming year.

WATER PUMPING IS SUBJECT OF MEET

How to get the water out of a pump at the least cost, and how to apply the water efficiently to land after it has been pumped, will be two subjects presented at meetings scheduled for next Wednesday on Orange county ranches, under auspices of the Agricultural Extension Service.

J. B. Brown, irrigation engineer with the University of California, will explain pump economics and water application, while Assistant Farm Advisor W. M. Cory will demonstrate water measuring and pump testing.

The opening demonstration will be at the E. A. Wakeham ranch in Garden Grove, one-half mile north of Chapman avenue, on Gilbert street, while the second will be at 2 p. m. on the J. J. Dwyer ranch, Anaheim, one-quarter mile north of Lincoln boulevard, on Dale avenue.



"Fine shooting" and "Bravo" the ranchers all cheer,
And Puffy finds out, when the air becomes clear,
That luck's again with him—the man isn't dead.
The apple, what's more, has been knocked from his head!

FULLERTON MAN GETS BAPTIST OFFICE

LOS ANGELES, Friday, May 24. (AP)—Dr. Gordon Palmer of Pomona will serve as president of the Southern California Baptist convention during the coming year.

He was named to the post at the organization's annual business meeting here yesterday, attended by 1200 clerical and lay delegates from this part of the state.

Other officers elected were Rev. Earl E. Cavanah, Calexico, first vice president; Rev. A. V. Marsh, San Diego, second vice president; Dr. Otto S. Russell, Fullerton, executive secretary, and Dr. Harry O. Anderson, Los Angeles, state evangelist.

11 IN ORATORY FINALS HERE

Finals in the W. C. T. U. oratorical contest of Julia Lathrop junior high school will be held tomorrow night at 7:30 o'clock in the Willard auditorium when 11 contestants compete for championships of two classes.

The speakers will be winners of the recent preliminary contests held at Julia Lathrop, who have already won silver medals. Two gold medals and $5 cash prizes will be presented the victors of the two groups of speakers, divided according to school grade.

Each of the contestants previously has chosen a dramatic reading or oration from a set of prescribed selections, designated by the organization. Preceding the contents, a musical program will be given. The Rev. Mr. Lowe of Costa mesa will give a chalk talk.

The public is invited to attend.

FHA TO CONDUCT MORTGAGE CLINICS

There has been a lot printed and said about the program of the Federal Housing Administration in aiding home repair and building, but additional information will be broadcast through a program of insured mortgage clinics in the near future, it was announced today by James H. Berry, field representative of the FHA, who was in Santa Ana. Definite dates for the clinics have not been arranged.

"The insured mortgage clinic is a method of education, resulting in widespread and correct understanding of the National Housing Act and the benefits to all parties from the better housing program," Mr. Berry said. "Periodic visits by competent speakers will be announced for all cities where the volume of insured mortgages is greatest.

WILLARD GRADS HOLD PICNIC

Graduating classes at Willard Junior High school held a picnic at Irvine park Wednesday afternoon. Margaret Rutan read the class prophecy.

Committees included Dorothy Hedley, Gloria Pestolesi, Marion Borchard, Marion Timmons, Naomi Knipe and Elaine Jost, food; Pete Lovero, Wilbur Knipe, Edward Budd, Tom Wilkins, Don Warhurst and Tom Letto, transportation committee; Lorraine Tarbox, Phyllis Kean, Margaret Rutan, Rhoda Timmons and Margaret Schmitz, chaperons; Chelena McBurney, Tom Engleman, Jack Hall, Larry Stump and Russell Robinson, games.

HIGHWAY LINK BIDS BEING STUDIED

The state can buy construction of 1.4 miles of asphaltic concrete paving on Manchester boulevard between Miraflores and the southern city limits of Anaheim for $39,544 from the Griffith company at Los Angeles, or it can get concrete paving from C. O. Sparks, Los Angeles, for $39,433.

These bids were being studied today by state department officials following their submission at Los Angeles yesterday. Contracts will be awarded within the next few weeks, it was reported in an Associated Press dispatch today from Los Angeles.

Miraflores is located on state highway 101, between this city and Anaheim. After construction of the 1.4 mile strip on which bids were received yesterday, only a small portion of the boulevard within the boundaries of Anaheim will remain to be brought to the contract stage.

Construction is under way between Anaheim and Buena Park. The new highway will provide a short cut between Santa Ana and Los Angeles, eliminating about two miles of the distance now traveled within Orange county by traffic to Los Angeles.

C. C. TO DISCUSS COOPERATIVES AT LUNCH MONDAY

What about cooperative concerns, launched with tax fund aid, bidding on contracts for supplies for government agencies, on the same footing with private concerns? Both sides of this question will be aired Monday noon before the board of directors of the Santa Ana chamber of commerce, in a meeting at the Green Cat cafe.

Supervisor W. C. Jerome will lead discussion against such a system, while Terrance Halloran, director of the State Emergency Relief Administration here, will bring out the other side of the question. The matter was brought before the chamber directors last Monday by Herbert L. Miller, who referred particularly to cooperatives making bread and bidding against private concerns for its sale to Citizens Conservation Corps camps.

AVOCADO MARKET TO BE OUTLINED

Two important factors affecting the avocado industry, pest control and marketing will be outlined at a meeting of the La Habra Farm Center at 7:30 p. m. Monday in the Lincoln school at La Habra.

H. L. McKenzie, entomologist of the Riverside Experiment Station, will outline "Biology and Control of Avocado Insects of California," while George B. Hodgkin, manager of Calavo Growers, will speak on "Impressions of Eastern Markets." M. J. Pickering, director of the farm bureau board, will report on recent work of the board.

SUNSHINE IS A GREAT REMEDY, BUT SUN BATHERS WARNED

Sunlight is the world's oldest remedy, according to Dr. K. H. Sutherland, county health officer, but like any other remedy, discretion should be used in measuring the doses, he warned today.

With Orange county folks preparing to flock to the beaches in modern but scant attire, Dr. Sutherland suggested a few tips on how to avoid blistered skin.

The person who has been indoors all winter and suddenly exposes himself to an overdose of sunshine might just as well have roasted himself on a spit before an open fire and saved himself the trip to the beach, Dr. Sutherland said.

"Sunlight was used by the medicine men of ancient Egypt and by the original scientists in the Golden Age of Greece," said the health officer. "Modern scientists have discovered in sunlight certain invisible rays which are known as ultra violet rays. These rays have been definitely proved to benefit a number of chronic maladies, to help in skin affections and to promote good health in general when they are judiciously used.

"A bath in the sun can be a very beneficial ablution, but the sunbath must be employed with discretion. Gradual exposure is an essential in the routine. The person who has been shut up indoors all winter and then suddenly takes a day off at the beach where he lolls about for six hours in the broiling sun will not enjoy the soothing effects of the ultra violet rays. Instead, he might just as well have roasted himself on a spit before an open fire, and saved himself the trip.

Feet Only First Day

"On the first day of sunbathing at the beginning of the season, only the feet should be exposed and then for five minutes, three or four times at hourly intervals. The surface of exposure is thereafter increased each day and, in addition, the time of exposure for parts previously exposed is increased each day until a protective tan is obtained.

"A bad sunburn can affect the body like a severe burn from any other cause, resulting in actual illness as well as in destruction of skin tissue. The victim of a severe burn should place himself under medical care at once. If the burn is not extensive and not severe, there are numerous proprietory remedies comprised of healing oils and sometimes containing a paraffin base which are healing to the burned tissues. The use of olive oil and similar oils during the time of the sunbath sometimes helps to prevent a sunburn..

"A simple home remedy for sunburn of a mild degree is the application of sodium bicarbonate powder, covering the parts; or this remedy might be applied in solution form, 5 to 10 per cent in water, enveloping the part burned with linen cloths kept constantly wet with bicarbonate solution. The application of cold water compresses or compresses kept wet with boric acid solution will also be of value.

Warns of Sunstroke

"Prolonged exposure to the sun, even when the person is well tanned, may easily result in sunstroke if the temperature and humidity are very high. The body, in the face of excessive heat, automatically keeps throwing off water in the form of perspiration whether there is vaporization or not. When the air is moist, there is less vaporization and consequently more perspiration. Since the only way the body can cool off is by vaporization of water from the surface, danger from sunstroke is greater when the humidity is high and there is less chance for vaporization of the perspiration.

"In the face of high temperatures, the body will lose as much as 10 or even 20 pounds of water in one day. Since the human body normally consists of about 75 per cent water, it is very evident that it is necessary to replace this enormous loss in order to maintain anythink like a healthy condition. Therefore, if a person is to be exposed to the sun when the temperature and humidity are very high, large amounts of water should be taken, as much as 10 or 12 glasses per day.

"If exposure to high temperatures is necessary day after day, then a liberal amount of salt should be taken with the food every day since under these conditions the body requires a large amount of chlorides and common table salt is the normal way for the body to get this chemical."

SET TRIAL DATE FOR PROPERTY SALE SUIT

Trial of the $30,000 damage suit brought by Henry and Walter Kinslow against Sheriff Logan Jackson, alleging illegal sale of property under an execution, was continued late yesterday by Judge G. K. Scovel in department 3, until July 3. The delay was granted to enable A. E. Koepsel, attorney for the Kinslows, to produce authorities for resisting dismissal of the suit.

A motion for dismissal was entered by John Martel, attorney for Sheriff Jackson, in which he questioned validity of the complaint.

The Kinslow brothers had filed the complaint alleging that real property of Elinore Kinslow was illegally sold by Sheriff Jackson after they had entered a third-party claim. In making his motion for dismissal, Martel said that third-party claims apply only to personal property and have no bearing on real estate. He also claimed a similar suit for $30,000 had been dismissed in superior court here, when the Kinslows had attempted to recover $30,000 from the sheriff on the grounds that the property sale was illegal.

Capistrano Institute, Y. L. I., Year Climaxed by President's Visit

50 Present At Dinner Session

Loretta B. Kelly Makes Annual Official Visit To Santa Ana

Capistrano Institute No. 104, Y. L. I., climaxed its year last evening with a dinner meeting at the James cafe, the official visit of the grand president, Miss Loretta B. Kelly of Antioch, Calif., and a session at the Knights of Columbus hall which featured initiation of four women and presentation of annual reports.

Fifty women attended the dinner. Tables were in pastel flowers and linens with pretty placecards for the guests of honor.

Esther Schnieders, district deputy; Eleanor Mannlien, institute deputy, and Katherine Kelly, past grand president, all were present from Los Angeles.

Dinner Committee

Mrs. Clyde Ashen, chairman of the dinner committee, was assisted by Misses Gretchen and Agnes Lieberman, Mrs. R. H. Sandon, Misses Genevieve and Helen Klatt and Mrs. George Young.

After dinner the women adjourned to the hall for the meeting, at which Miss Nellie Colombini, Y. L. I. president, was presiding officer.

Candidates initiated were Mrs. Francis Sloan, Mrs. A. Joseph, Miss Martha Zlaket and Miss Murva Dressler.

Twenty-two new members have been taken into the institute in the just-concluded membership drive which has been one of this year's special projects, it was said.

Honored Guests

Father Timothy Galvin of St. Joseph's church, Father Thomas Butler of St. Anne's church and Father Arthur Hutchinson from the Mission San Juan Capistrano were other honore guests.

Annual reports were given as follows: spiritual acts, by Mrs. Marie Vosskuhler; good fellowship, Mrs. M. . Murphy; confraternity of Christian doctrine, Miss Rosemary Ashen; and social service work, Mrs. George Young. The reports were accepted adn commended.

Mrs. Ashen, on behalf of the institute, presented the grand president with a water color painting of Capistrano mission. The gift is traditional with the institute. This year's painting was done by Mrs. Lela Norton, institute member.

The formal gowns worn by the officers and special guests present added an attractive color note to the meeting, which was attended by more than 100 women.

Father Butler, assisted at the piano by Delores Johnston of Los Angeles, sang two solos at the close of the evening.

MOTHERS' CLUB HAS POT-LUCK

Nineteen members of the Mothers' club of the First Congregational church went to Whittier Wednesday to attend a pot-luck luncheon at the home of Mrs. Zora Wallace, a former member.

During the afternoon, the group worked on layettes.

Tea Announces Engagement of Evelyn Metzgar - L. H. Minge

A smart tea given yesterday from 4 to 5:30 o'clock by Mrs. Joseph H. Metzgar and her daughter, Miss Evelyn Metzgar, at the Metzgar home, 816 Bush street, served to announce Miss Metzgar's engagement to Lawrence Henry Minge of Los Angeles, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Minge of Anaheim.

Tiny scrolls distributed among the 45 guests by Dale Paterson, young son of Mr. and Mrs. D. D. Paterson of Santa Ana and a cousin of the bride-elect, revealed the news in the message: "Betrothed—Evelyn Hustead Metzgar and Lawrence Henry niMge." The wedding is scheduled for June 22 in the picturesque Episcopal church of the Messiah.

Postgraduate

Miss Metzgar is a graduate of Santa Ana High school and Junior College, where the romance had its beginning. She completed her university training at the University of California, where she was a member of Zeta Tau Alpha sorority, and is now on the faculty of Frances Willard Junior High school.

Mr. Minge followed his graduation from Santa Ana Junior College by attending U. of C., where he was a member of Sigma Phi fraternity. He is now engaged in business in Los Angeles.

Mrs. Tessman Presides

Mrs. John Tessman presided at a lovely tea table centered with a crystal bowl of white Iceland poppies and white perennial sweet peas. Tall ivory candles in silver vases completed the appointments of the table. The centerpiece was the gift of Mrs. Helen B. Heil. Crystalware was used in serving little sandwiches, cakes and tea. Misses Helen Glancy and Eleanor Metzgar, the latter a sister of the honoree, assisted in the hostess duties in the dining room, and Miss Jean Wallace, a pupil of Miss Metzgar at Willard, assisted in receiving guests at the door.

The living room was enhanced by floral baskets from the gardens of Mrs. Tessman, Mrs. Alex Brownridge, Mrs. E. B. Sprague and Mrs. Terry E. Stephenson.

TUESDAY IS SET FOR POT-LUCK OF CALUMPIT

Calumpit Camp auxiliary of the United Spanish War Veterans will be hostess at a pot-luck supper at the K. of C. hall next Tuesday at 6:30 o'clock, according to plans made at the auxiliary meeting Tuesday night. In the absence of Mrs. Celia Cook, who is attending the convention at Berkeley, Mrs. Elanore Shaw presided.

Acceptance was voted to invitations from the Elks club to join them in Flag day services June 12 and from Tustin post No. 227 of American Legion to participate in ceremonies at Fairhaven cemetery Memorial day.

Mrs. A. Erickson, publicity chairman, has asked camp members to watch The Journal for announcement of the church which the organization will attend Sunday, for memorial services. Flowers for grave decorations are to be brought to Mrs. Erickson at 1041 West Sixth street before Memorial day.

A date will be set later for a reception to honor Mrs. May Glaze and Frank Rowe, elected president of the women's auxiliary and patriotic instructor of the men's state organization, respectively, at the convention this week.

COURT OF HONOR PLANS BREAKFAST IN RANKIN HOME

Members of the court of honor of Troop No. 5, Santa Ana Girl Scouts, will be entertained tomorrow morning at a breakfast given by their captain, Mrs. Herbert P. Rankin, 2106 North Main street.

The girls are to grill bacon over a charcoal broiler in the garden of the home. . A breakfast menu will be served in the summer house.

Plans will be outlined for summer activities of the troop.

THREE INITIATED IN INFORMAL SERVICE AT BEACH

Misses Harriett Chapin, Lucille Howell and Marjorie Berkner were informally initiated as pledges to Sigma Tau Psi sorority at a meeting of the chapter last evening in its summer house on Balboa Island.

Miss Jean Rowland, chapter president, had charge of the initiation. Miss Elizabeth Meyers, who was to have been initiated, was called east last week and must be initiated later.

-- supper was served at the close of the evening. About 20 girls were present.

This evening formal initiation will take place in the home of Miss Alyce Majors, North Flower street, and afterward the members and their escorts will go to the Hollywood Roosevelt hotel for a semi-final dinner dance.

CARD PARTY GIVEN BY PAST OFFICERS

Three tables were in play at the card party given by Sycamore Past Noble Grands at the home of Mrs. E. E. Curtis, 222 South Main street, Tuesday afternoon.

Prizes were awarded to Mrs. Kate Rinshed and Mrs. Georgia Mills. Others present were Mmes. Rose Morrison, Florence Crawford, Millie West, Letta Morgan, Marianne Muller, Mary Schlassman, Eunice Reid, Roda Heiss, Ida Dunphy, and J. L. CacBride. Hostesses were Mrs. Curtis, Mrs. Bessie McDonald, Mrs. Pauline Decker, and Mrs. Jesie Overton.

LILLIAN GOLDSMITH TO ADDRESS EBELL CLUWOMEN

A popular Los Angeles lecturer, Lillian Burkhardt Goldsmith, will present the afternoon program at the meeting of Santa Ana Ebell club Monday in Ebell clubhouse.

Mrs. C. V. Davis will conduct a business session opening at 9 o'clock. Reports of last week's state Federation of Women's clubs convention at Del Monte are anticipated.

Hints for Housewives

For the afternoon beverage party the housewife is always seeking a flavorable novelty, and cheese is willing to be used in many different ways.

Here is one that will certainly please.

Take one pound of old fashioned, ordinary American cheese and grate it. Then add a dash of your favorite sauce to the grated cheese together with about half the contents of a small-sized bottle of ketchup. Stir until you have a nice paste.

Use two loaves of square white bread—or half the amount of the mixture given if you think one loaf will be sufficient.

Cut off the crusts and then cut the bread in lengthwise slices. Dampen these slices in a wet cloth and spread with the mixture. After this roll them. Then cut to size desired, toast and serve piping hot.

For Better Cakes

Chocolate or spice cakes can be enriched by addition of chopped dates, raisins, figs or nuts.

The birthday cake idea can be carried out by serving individual cakes daintily frosted and tiny candles (lighted, of course) inserted just before served.

A fourth teaspoon oil of peppermint added to your regular white frosting recipe makes a good topping chocolate cake. Rather a popular combination of flavors, too.

Stitch Fringed Tablecloths

If you have bought napkins or tablecloths or towels that have fringes it is wise to sew close to their edges all around with small, close together hand or machine stitches. This will keep the fringes from snarling and ravelling.

Apples, Cranberry Sauce

Baked apples stuffed with cranberry sauce is a pretty garnish for ham, pork or veal. Add sauce (cooked) after apples are baked.

A Nutritious Sandwich

Cream cheese makes a good filling for orange bread sandwiches. This is a nutritious sandwich and can be used for school lunch boxes.

A teaspoonful of sugar will improve the taste of canned peas.

Michigan, which celebrates its hundredth anniversary as a state this year, finds that its resources of wild life have been much depleted in the century.

Floor Show of Cruise Is Told

What's a ship's dance without a floor show? That's what the Santa Ana High school Tri-Y thought, so they arranged five acts of vaudeville to top the program of their Mystery Cruise tomorrow night at 7:30 in the Y. W. C. A. rooms.

Marvin Crawford and Freddie Pimental will do a continuity of tap dances. The Switzler sisters, harmony singers, are to appear, and Virginia Wilson will do a Spanish dance. A comic bull fight has been slated, and Margaret and Celia Yanas will present a tango dance.

Fredie Pimental's orchestra is to play on the ship's deck.

Land trips when the ship docks will be made to booths, representing Alaska, Hawaii, Turkey, Japan, and Mexico, where souvenirs and native foods will be on sale. Fortune tellers and a Turkish magician will offer their talents.

Proceeds of the affair will be used to send delegates to the annual conference of high school girl reserves at Asilomar, near Monterey, in June.

PLANS NEAR CLOSE FOR STANFORD BENEFIT PARTY

Plans today were reported drawing to a close for the annual Orange county Stanford Women's club's benefit scholarship bridge tea to be given tomorrow from 2 to 5 o'clock at Bowers museum on North Main street.

Contract and auction bridge will be played on the balcony, in the arcades and along the board walk outside the museum building. Early California and Mexican folk songs and dancing will add to the enjoyment of the party, proceeds of which are to be used in helping some worth Orange county girl attend Stanford university.

Between 4 and 5 o'clock tea will be served. Miss Lella Watson is in charge of the serving. Mrs. Mabel Dixon is planning the program. Mrs. J. Parley Smith has had charge of ticket sales.

Mrs. A. Alice Whitaker has arranged for prizes. Mrs. Joseph Livernash is planning refreshments. Publicity for the party has been in charge of Miss Aural Bauer. Others on the general committee have been Mrs. Archibald Edwards, Miss Lilian Rivers and Mrs. John Jacobs, jr.

ANAHEIM HOME SCENE OF CLUB LUNCHEON

The home of Mrs. Charles Mann in Anaheim was the scene yesterday of a pleasant luncheon meeting of an informal bridge club to which Mrs. Mann belongs.

Mrs. Henry Adams of Anaheim, who substituted for Mrs. Charles Miller of Whittier, won high score award in bridge. Mrs. L. C. Vincent of Anaheim substituted for Mrs. Pearl Daniels.

Others present were Mrs. Frank Paterson and Mrs. E. S. Gilbert of Santa Ana, Mrs. Tom Hargus of Anaheim, Mrs. Fayne Phelps, Mrs. Bonnie Wardman and Mrs. Charles Wright of Whittier, and Mrs. Will Minteer, Mrs. Harry Richardson and Mrs. Vera Yelland of Alhambra.

MRS. PLUMB GIVES BUFFET BRIDGE LUNCHEON IN HOME

Mrs. Charles Mortimer Plumb was hostess yesterday in her home on Edgewood road with an informal buffet luncheon and afternoon bridge party.

A bright cluster of coreopsis centered the buffet, and little nosegays of Cecil Brunner rosebuds and Chinese forgets-me-nots were used on the card tables in the luncheon hour.

Prizes in bridge went to Mrs. James Hermon and Mrs. H. B. Rapp. Three tables of cards were in play.

Ranney Home Scene of Parties

Yesterday and today the attractive W. D. Ranney home at 2321 North Park boulevard was the scene of luncheons at which Mrs. Ranney entertained groups of her friends. Mrs. Ranney effectively arranged in the rooms of her home baskets of flowers from the gardens of Mrs. J. E. Gowen, Mrs. S. M. Davis, Mrs. E. D. White and Mrs. E. B. Sprague.

In the luncheon hour the card tables were appointed with smart linens and centered with vases of yellow poppies and blue cornflowers.

Mrs. Howard Timmons, Mrs. J. E. Leibig and Mrs. Charles Druitt won prizes in contract bridge.

Other guests were Mrs. R. G. Tuthill, Mrs. A. W. Rutan, Mrs. F. W. Slabaugh, Mrs. Arthur Lyon, Mrs. F. P. Nickey, Mrs. Rowland P. Yeagle, Mrs. F. E. Farnsworth, Mrs. Good Adams, Mrs. Helen B. Heil, Mrs. A. J. Lasby, Mrs. Alex Brownridge, Mrs. Louis F. Moulton, Mrs. Maxwell Burke, Mrs. Loyal K. King, Mrs. J. F. Burke.

Also Mrs. H. MacVicker Smith, Mrs. H. B. Sharpless, Mrs. Charles Kendall, Mrs. J. I. Clark, Mrs. Theo Winbigler, Mrs. Parke Roper, Mrs. Ernest Winbigler, Mrs. J. S. Smart, Mrs. Hugh Plumb, Mrs. A. J. Cruickshank, Mrs. W. E. Winslow, Mrs. C. V. Davis, Mrs. George Raymer and Mrs. Charles Boyer.

EIGHT GARDENS TO BE VISITED ON Y.W.C.A. TOUR

Eight gardens, each individual in its planning and each selected as outstanding among gardens in this district, will be visited by those who take the Y. W. C. A.'s second garden tour tomorrow from 2 to 6 p. m. in Tustin and Lemon Heights.

A garden tea, with music, will take place from 3 to 5 p. m. at the home of Mrs. M. B. Wellington, Lemon Heights. Gardens on the list, which may be obtained at the Y. W. C. A., will be marked by special flags.

Hostesses will be Mrs. K. H. Sutherland, Mrs. Cassius Paul, Mrs. Fred Forgy, Mrs. Horace Stevens, Mrs. W. C. Snow, Mrs. R. P. Yeagle, Mrs. Hugh Lowe, Mrs. Rex Kennedy, Mrs. C. E. Bressler, Mrs. A. H. Segerstrom, Mrs. L. D. Coffing, Mrs. John Ball, Mrs. Hiram Curry, Mrs. Milo K. Tedstrom, Mrs. Maxwell Burke and Mrs. S. M. Davis.

LUNCHEON IS SET FOR MONDAY

A 12:30 luncheon will be given Monday for the Women's International auxiliary of the International Typographical union at the home of Mrs. J. W. Jones on highway 101.

Members are asked to bring thimbles, needles and thread to work on a quilt.

BLACKBERRY CAKE
By Mrs. Ruth Hester

Ingredients: ½ cup butter or other shortening, 3 eggs, 1½ cups sugar, 1½ cups blackberries or youngberries and juice; 1 teaspoon of allspice, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, 1 teaspoon nutmeg, 1 teaspoon soda, ½ teaspoon salt. If unsalted shortening is used, use 1 teaspoon salt. Flour to make a light batter.

Directions: Cream shortening and sugar; add egg yolks and beat. Dissolve soda in berry juice, and add alternately with the flour, to which has been added the spice and salt. Last, all stiffly beaten egg whites. Do not beat this cake too much. Makes three nine-inch layers. Any icing can be used.

MAGNOLIA CAMP HAS LUNCHEON

Mrs. Gertrude Birt of 2210 Maple street was hostess yesterday to members of Magonlia camp, Royal Neighbors of America, when she entertained at a covered dish luncheon.

Guests sat at small tables set with centerpieces of sweet peas.

A flower guessing contest, originated by Mrs. Etta D. Sweet, was held in the afternoon with prizes going to Mrs. Mae Thomas and Mrs. Emma Swanner. The silent neighbor gift exchange was made. Names of the silent neighbors will be revealed at the meeting June 27 at the home of Mrs. Daisy Scott in Tustin.

LUNCHEON HONORS MRS. A. ERICKSON

Complimenting Mrs. A. Erickson, a surprise birthday luncheon was given Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Frank Brown, 629 North Van Ness. Many lovely gifts were presented the honoree.

Others present were Mmes. Marie Jost, Emily Jost, Errol Barnes, William Kintz, Barnard Snee, Clara Barnes, and Miss Verena Bailey.

Players To Be Heard Tonight

Padua Hills Mexican players, with Manuela Huerta as featured singer, will present a program of Mexican folk plays, music and dancing this evening at 8 o'clock in Fremont school auditorium, under auspices of the Cultural and Recreative Mexican club of Santa Ana.

Lee Shippey, Los Angeles newspaper columnist, recently described a performance by the Padua players as "the most genuine thing we've ever seen in the United States."

The players' objective is an understanding recreation of the simple, natural folk entertainment of old Mexico and early California, acording to their director, Mrs. Bess A. Garner.

Interested persons are being invited to the program.

FOUR MOTHERS ENTERTAIN GRADUATING CLASS

Four mothers, Mrs. Leo B. McGavren of Balb. Connely of Balboa island, and Vincent P. Ganahl and D. S. Lloyd of Corona del Mar, shared honors in entertaining the graduating class of Newport Beach grammar school Wednesday evening at the community hall in Corona del Mar.

Several games were played. Virginia Ganahl, Lillian Moore, Kathleen Connely and Sylvia Roberts won girls' prizes, and Albert Kemp, Leslie Marshall and Wilbur Lankford, prizes for boys.

The hall was gay with turquoise blue and gold decorations in keeping with the class colors. Cake, ice cream and punch were served.

Others present were David Cherry, Mrs. Nettie Bryan and Miss Hazel Cubbon, teachers, and Josephine Pearce, Clara Souders, Bob Boyd, Harris Cottle, Myles Sennott, Edwin Noonan, Orval Lloyd, Edna Racker, Gwendolyn Sweetman, Carl McIntee, George Metzger, Collin Burlingame, Bobby Janes, Bill Dickey, Bill Nickerson, Margaret Thompson, Ruth McGavren, Anne Lorenze, Sylvia Roberts, Clifton Brooks, Jeanne Cabnne, Kathleen Connely, George Sheasby, Harry Sheasby, Rolland Gray, jr., Patty Wilken, Lillian Neilson and Manuel Cordeiro.

MEMORIAL DAY PLANS MADE BY LEGION

Completion of plans for Memorial day services at 9 o'clock at Fairhaven cemetery May 30 was made at the meeting of American Legion post No. 131 held last night.

Commander William E. Bruce of Tustin post will be in charge of the rites, held jointly by Santa Ana, Tustin and Orange posts, with their auxiliaries.

The procession will form at the north gate with the Legion drum corps at its head. A commemorative wreath will be placed at a monument erected for the occasion and a salute will be fired in tribute to all dead soldiers.

Franklin G. West, Santa Ana attorney, will deliver the memorial address.

Also participating in the services will be the Spanish War Veterans, the Grand Army of the Republic, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Disabled War Veterans and their auxiliaries.

Services at 10 o'clock by the G. A. R. post will follow.

On the decision of the post last night, only one meeting a month will be held during June, July, and August.

Comrade Harold Brown was given the gavel in the good of the order to raise money for the Vern Carpenter fund being sponsored by The Journal.

FREE AFTER ONE CONVICTION

After having once been sentenced to San Quentin prison following conviction on a charge of criminally assaulting Mrs. Mary Martinez of Stanton, Manuel Castillo was a free man today, District Attorney S. B. Kaufman having recommended dismissal of the charge against him.

The dismissal came after a jury, hearing evidence against Castillo for the second time, reported yesterday to Superior Judge H. G. Ames that they were unable to reach an agreement. It was reported, members of the jury stood 10 to 2 for acquittal.

Castillo was arrested several months ago and tried on the assault charge after having been identified by Mrs. Martinez. At his first trial he was convicted and sentenced to prison. His appeal for probation was denied as was a motion for a new trial. Castillo was granted a stay of execution when he appealed to the fourth district court of appeal from the lower court decision refusing him a new trial.

In granting the new trial the appellate court questioned the plausibility of certain testimony.

CONGRATULATES MAYOR ON VICTORY

W. K. Murphy, on left, is shown with Mayor Fred C. Rowland of Santa Ana as Mr. Murphy congratulated Mayor Rowland recently on his victory at the last city election.

PLAN SHIFTS IN CITY BOARDS

New faces on various appointive boards in the Santa Ana city government will appear following next Monday night's meeting of the city council, The Journal learned from reliable sources today.

Changes reported to be planned include the shifting of some members of one board to another, and the appointment of several new men to vacancies that will be created.

Boards to be affected by the shifts, it was learned, will be the library, forestry and museum advisory boards, and the planning commission.

Winning the largest number of votes among candidates for the city council at the last city election is only one of the distinctions which have corr recently to Mayor Fred Rowland. Mr. Rowland was honored recently by a visit from W. K. Murphy of Los Angeles, general agent in Southern California for the Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance company, with which Mayor Rowland is connected.

For the past ten years he has been associated with W. B. Moore here, with offices at 214 Moore building, in representing the company in Orange county; and today he said he was pleased to note that his personal business reflects the general improvement in business conditions, having shown an increase over that of 1933 and 1934.

While in Santa Ana, Mr. Murphy advised Mr. Rowland that the company's business had increased fifteen per cent over 1934.

LAND BANK LOANS CAN'T BE MADE TO FARM CORPORATION

When is a farm not a farm? The answer is, "When it's incorporated."

Under present regulations, the Federal Land Bank is unable to lend money on groves whose owners have incorporated, according to Roland D. Flaherty, secretary of the farm bureau here. And numerous heirs who have inherited Orange county orchards have incorporated so it would not be necessary to divide the properties into small parcels. To the owners, their holdings are farms; but under present land bank regulations, they are corporations.

The rural credits committee of the farm bureau has urged California representatives at Washington to work for relief of this situation in legislation now pending.

Yesterday the committee met here to study the effect on Orange county likely to result from proposed reduction of interest rates on land bank loans from 4½ to 3½ per cent. The committee is awaiting news of a possible compromise measure which may result from a conference between senate and house groups.

FORMER ANAHEIM WOMAN PASSES

Mrs. Letitia Jane Young, 71, native of California, who was born in Angel Camp, passed away yesterday afternoon at a Los Angeles hospital after an extended illness. For eight years she resided in Anaheim and conducted a hemstitching shop. Since 1927 her home had been in Los Angeles.

She leaves her husband, John R. Young, of Los Angeles; a son, Wallace, of Los Angeles; a daughter, Mrs. T. C. Strength, of Yorba Linda; a sister, Mrs. Lillian Wilson, of Nevada; and five grandchildren: Mrs. Inez Evans of Anaheim, Miss Yvonne Young of Los Angeles, Miss Bertalee Strength and Jack and Stanley Strength of Yorba Linda.

Funeral services will be conducted from the Hilgenfeld funeral home at 2 p. m. tomorrow. The Rev. S. F. Hilgenfeld will officiate, and burial will be in Loma Vista cemetery.

SANTA ANA WOMAN PRESIDES AT BAPTIST CONVENTION

Concluding three years as president of the Women's Baptist Missionary Society of Southern California, Mrs. L. C. Fairbanks of Santa Ana officiated at the annual meeting held Tuesday at the First Baptist church in Los Angeles in conjunction with the Southern California Baptist Convention conference.

Mrs. Charles Nalle, of Santa Ana, presided as song director. Mrs. E. A. Bell, of this city, who has served as corresponding secretary for Mrs. Fairbanks during her three-year term, retired from office also.

To Serve on Board

Mrs. Fairbanks was elected to serve on the board of directors of the women's group along with Miss Lulu Minter, whose term has not yet expired. In compliment to the retiring executive, a basket of flowers and a collection of bon voyage letters were presented her.

The Fairbanks will leave June 1 for a trip through Eastern states and will return by way of Alaska. Mr. Fairbanks, who has accompanied his wife on her numerous visits to missionary societies, was presented to the assemblage, numbering 1100 women.

Other Santa Anans who attended the women's conference included Miss Gertrude Minor, Mrs. M. M. Holmes, Mrs. E. A. Bell, Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Robinson, Mrs. J. P. Greene, Mrs. Mary McAllister, Mrs. Charles Harp, Miss Dorcas Whittaker, Mrs. Emily Cox, and Mrs. W. A. Atkinson.

Pageant Presented

In the convention elections, Mr. Robinson and Mrs. Fairbanks were elected to the executive committee of the board of directors of the convention.

Concluding the conference, a pageant of the entire program of the convention was presented in which Dr. Otto S. Russell, former pastor of the Santa Ana Baptist church, and re-elected executive secretary of the convention, played a prominent part.

Outstanding in the addresses of the day was the temperance discussion by Dr. Roy Smith of the First Methodist church, Mrs. Fairbanks said. Next year's conclave will be held in the High Temple Baptist church of San Diego.

STERILIZATION, PAGANISM HIT BY POPE

VATICAN CITY, Friday, May 24. (AP)—Pope Pius today delivered an attack on sterilization and the German program of paganism in receiving 400 delegates, including several Americans, to the International Hospital congress.

The pope said he had seen that the program of the congress has included the topic, "Eugenics and Sterilization," and that he was glad the topic had not been discussed and that it was not necessarily connected with the scope of the congress.

"We know Germany, we have many friends there, but we must realize that if the German program of paganism is extended to and accepted by other nations, incalculable damage will result to the whole world."

SOFTBALL GROUNDS ARE DEDICATED AT PLACENTIA

PLACENTIA, Friday, May 24.—Dedication ceremonies for Placentia's new softball field were held last night, Ed Eisenacher serving as master of ceremonies for a program featuring speeches by city and other officials.

Among those participating were Mayor C. R. Young of Placentia and Mayor Mike Hogue of Brea; W. W. Hay, president of the Brea-Olinda school board; Warren Bradford, president of the Placentia school board; W. D. Solesbee, vice president of the Placentia recreation center; and Joe Neuls, representing the Brea Lions club. Music was furnished by the American Legion drum and bugle corps of Anaheim.

Brea defeated Placentia, 13-11, in the game that followed.

LABOR TROUBLE IN SOUTH FORESTALLED

BRAWLEY, Calif., Friday, May 24. (AP)—A new agreement between shippers and members of the packers' association on wages and other matters was hailed here today as practically eliminating any possibility of labor troubles during this year's melon season in Imperial valley.

The agreement was reached yesterday after conferences between growers, shippers, packers' representatives and Dr. Towne Nylander, director of the federal regional labor board at Los Angeles. Packers are to get 7 cents a crate straight. It was agreed also that lettuce workers will receive a pay increase of ¼ cent a crate.

BANKERS SEATING PRESIDENT TODAY

SAN DIEGO, Friday May 24. (AP)—Bringing to a close the forty-fourth annual convention of the California Bankers' association, A. L. Lathrop of Los Angeles today was to be inducted into office as president of the organization. Howard Whipple of San Francisco was to succeed Lathrop as vice president.

Chester A. Rude of Los Angeles was slated to be named chairman of the executive committee.

51 DELEGATES ARE DUE BACK FROM NORTH

Bearing department officers and honors, 51 delegates from Calumpit camp and auxiliary of the Spanish American War Veterans were scheduled to return today from convention at Berkeley.

Appointments made by Mrs. May Glaze, whose election to the presidency of the auxiliary was announced earlier in the week, included Mrs. Cora Field, treasurer; Mrs. Bertha Helmer, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. Edna Hanna, recording secretary.

Frank Rowe was elected patriotic instructor of the department.

Closing installation ceremonies of the convention were conducted by the Santa Ana drill team, which had won first prize in a competition early in the week. A bronze cup was presented the victors. The drum corps placed second in their competition.

More than 3000 delegates are reported to have attended the conferences.

Santa Ana is believed to have had the second largest delegation present, ranking next to Los Angeles.

The next convention will be held in May, 1936, in San Bernardino.

PRIZE PIANIST TO BE HONORED

Miss Olive Elleanor Schweitzer, 13, Santa Ana pianist who won first prize in her class at the Festival of Arts contest in Los Angeles Tuesday night, will be an honored guest at a banquet next Monday night, when it is expected that the nature of the awards will be announced.

Another young musician who is attracting attention is John Hart Stout of Orange, 13-year-old violinist, who will compete in the Welsh Eisteddfod contest at Los Angeles on Saturday.

Miss Schweitzer will appear in a parade at the Hollywood bowl on June 1, when the Festival of Arts competition now under way will end. She also has the distinction of having won the Eisteddfod contest three years ago.

THREE INITIATED BY EASTERN STAR

Three initiates were conducted through the labyrinth of the star at a meeting of Scepter chapter 163, Order of the Eastern Star, in the Masonic hall at Orange last night. The new members are Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Stinson and Mrs. Loretta Jacobs.

A memorial service was conducted for members who have passed away during the past year. Draping of the altar was made more impressive by the singing of "In the Garden of Tomorrow" by a trio consisting of Miss Ethel Suffern, Miss Louise Dews and Miss Mabel Nuckels.

Refreshments were served in the dining room following the meeting. At a special table sat members whose birthdays occurred during March, April and May.

WALNUT SURPLUS TO BE EXPLAINED

How the surplus walnuts of Southern California were handled last year will be explained at the West Orange Farm Center meeting in the Orange Grammar school after a pot-luck supper at 6:30 p. m. Tuesday. W. E. Goodspeed, manager of the walnut control board, will speak on "What Became of Your Surplus Walnuts?"

A report on work of the farm bureau citrus department, as it relates to packing house pooling systems, will be made by George Juenke.

PATROL OFFICER HURT IN CRASH

Highway Patrolman Harry Wild was nursing a sore arm and jaw today as the result of an accident yesterday at Anaheim in which his motorcycle collided with a car driven by George Schupert, 66, of La Habra.

Wild was thrown from his motorcycle which was dragged 60 feet by the car.

THREE TONS OF MUTTON

There's 6000 pounds—three tons—of mutton at Schmidt's Market in the Grand Central arcade. Mr. Schmidt has just finished butchering 100 head of English mutton, and he will place it on sale tomorrow.

TO DISCUSS COOPERATION

A lively session is expected tonight at the farm bureau offices here when Orange county vegetable growers are scheduled to attempt a decision on the question of organizing a cooperative association for collective bargaining and marketing. The meeting will start at 7:30 p. m. The effect of the short spring tomato crop on cannery prices also will be discussed.

Want Ad Heiress

By ROB EDEN

BEGIN HERE TODAY:

FRAN CAREY, stenographer, found an old-fashioned locket. She advertises, but no one claims it for months and then only after a series of puzzling incidents. Fran is followed by a tall, blond young man. She wears the locket to a dance and receives a note from him warning her to guard it. Then she finds her apartment has been ransacked for the locket. A false claim is made by telephone.

Fran meets and falls in love with WARD QUENTIN, charming, suave, who has opened an office across the hall from where she works. She learns that the man who followed her is CHRISTOPHER ABBOTT, prominent lawyer. She interviews him but he refuses to tell her why he followed her or what value the locket may have.

Ward is the tool of ELLEN and JAY SPENCER, sister and brother, who know the value of the locket and are determined to have it. Their plan is that Ward shall marry Fran and, on their honeymoon, arrange a fatal "accident." Of the conspirators only LAEL HUBBELL, Ward's mistress, objects to this cold-blooded murder.

Fran has been completely taken in by Ward, though her roommate, NINA MARKHAM, intuitively suspects him. Abbott also suspects Ward's motive in marrying Fran. The wedding has been set for Saturday afternoon. Thursday's newspapers announce the death of HARRIET RALEIGH, eccentric, wealthy old woman. On Friday morning, Fran, acting under instructions from Abbott, takes her locket to his office.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY:

CHAPTER TWENTY-ONE

Ward was 10 minutes early for his luncheon appointment with Fran, an almost unheard of feat for him, for he was usually a little late, but the morning had passed so slowly, and he found he couldn't wait any longer in his office. The entrance of the Talbot restaurant would do just as well.

He Is Impatient

The cigaret he tossed on the sidewalk when he took his stand before the window had tasted bitter. Most of the cigarets he had had that morning tasted bitter. Ellen calling twice to see if he had heard from Fran — but then she wasn't at home so it was safe. Calling again before he left his office and he telling her again impatiently that he was going out to meet Fran now. They were to have lunch at Talbot's at 12:30.

He should have had her phone him, of course, after she finished with Abbott. Then he wouldn't be worrying like this—almost crazy. He lighted another cigaret and looked anxiously down the street. Fran should come from Broadway if she came directly from Abbott's office. It was the quicker way.

Fool, not to tell her to call him when she finished with Abbott. Fool.

Perhaps she would be late, perhaps Abbott would keep her after 12:30. Well, he'd know that everything was all right if she didn't show up on time. Fumbling in his vest pocket, he found the slip of paper that contained Ellen's phone number until 2:30. He had thought for a frantic minute that he had left it on his desk. Ellen wanted to be called immediately when he knew. Well, he would ring her as soon as he could get away from Fran.

Both of them worrying like idiots, when there was nothing to worry about. When everything was clear sailing. Still at a time like this, even when everything was all right, you couldn't help but worry. . . .

Was Fran still with Abbott? She must be . . . He would have a lot to tell her. If she didn't show up in 15 minutes of 1 he'd call Abbott's office and ask to talk to her. Give her 15 minutes.

Consults Watch

Pushing back his sleeve, he looked at his wrist watch, and then went to the glass door and peered in at the clock above the pastry counter.

Twelve-thirty exactly. To the dot with both timepieces. She was going to be late! He knew she was going to be late. Indeed he almost hoped she would be late so he could call Abbott's office for her. Maybe he'd better give her more than 15 minutes—say 20 minutes. That would be better. Tell her when he got hold of her at Abbott's office that he had first phoned her own office.

"Well!"

He spun around and found himself facing her.

"I'm two minutes late, Ward, but I swear I couldn't help it. Got mixed up in a store trying to buy some handkerchiefs—"

So she'd gotten away from Abbott early enough to got into a store. . . .

"Lunch right away?" he asked, taking her arm.

"Right away, please. I'm starved."

Ward studied her face as well as he could as they went into Talbot's, but aside from the fact that she was smiling and happy, it seemed to be as usual. Nothing different about it. No wild exuberance. Maybe Abbott had done nothing but take the locket today—maybe he hadn't told her anything! Otherwise, wouldn't she have burst up to him with the news? That was what he expected her to do.

"What would you like?" When they were seated.

"You order for me," Fran begged. "Why, Ward, you look tired. What's the matter? Circles under your eyes!"

Business Deal

"Nothing dear—only a business deal that I'm worried about. Nothing else." About the biggest business deal he had ever had, he thought. And what a night! Tossing, turning, probably an hour's sleep in all. Ellen had said she didn't sleep last night, either.

He ordered, feeling not much like eating himself, but knowing he must make an effort.

The hors d'oeuvres came, and he got some of them down some way, wondering all the time why Fran didn't speak of her visit to Abbott's office, and debating whether he should be the one to mention it.

"Tomorrow, Ward. I can't believe it. It seems too impossible to be true."

"What's tomorrow?"

"Don't tease me! What's tomorrow!"

He grinned, pretending he had really been teasing her, but for a moment he had entirely forgotten his wedding—tomorrow afternoon, which reminded him that there were still some things he must do about the wedding. Pick up the ring at the jeweler's, have the car checked all over, pack for himself this evening—

His grilled lamb chops came, and her clubhouse sandwich, and still Fran said nothing about Abbott, nothing about the locket.

When the waiter came with coffee, Ward could control himself no longer.

"Oh, what about your interview with Abbott, and the armed guard to the bank? I'd almost forgotten it."

Fran put two lumps of sugar in her coffee, and stirred it slowly. "I never was lucky, Ward. Never."

"What do you mean?"

"I mean I never was lucky with money. It's so bad, but we aren't going to have six million dollars."

Ward Has Chill

"Aren't going to have six million dollars?" Chills were running up and down his back and the coffee cup in his hand was jiggling so dangerously that he set it down hastily. "Aren't going to have six million dollars?"

"No," she said solemnly, shaking her head dolefully, "and I really wish Mr. Abbott hadn't told me about the six million dollars—it makes me feel rather sad because it can't be ours."

Now she was fooling him, acting for him. "If you'll be sane for a moment, Fran, and tell me what you mean by this nonsense."

"It isn't nonsense, dear. That's what's so pitiful about it. If my locket had been the right locket, I would have inherited six million dollars from the estate of Miss Harriett Raleigh. Know of her?"

Ward couldn't answer at that moment, so he shook his head, indicating that he knew nothing of Miss Harriett Raleigh.

"Well, she was an old eccentric, sort of a gambler, Mr. Abbott says, and she deliberately dropped a locket on the corner of Third and Cedar the night of Jan. 21 and the finder of the locket gets six million dollars under her will. She died yesterday—"

"And your locket?" Ward found it difficult to breathe. His collar seemed to be stifling him. He rubbed a finger inside it, but it did no good.

Doesn't Match

"Well, Mr. Abbott thought my locket was the locket Miss Raleigh had deliberately lost — that was why he followed me for those two days, and sent me that note I told you about at the Belmont hotel. But it wasn't. We found out today. The real locket belongs to a set of Miss Raleigh's, earrings and brooch, and my locket wasn't of the set, entirely different. Miss Raleigh's locket is round. Too bad, isn't it? Think what we could have done with six million dollars!"

"Six million dollars!" Ward repeated after her. Something was the matter with his eyes, now. They weren't focussing right. He was seeing two Frans, two copper heads topped in small black hats side by side, two wistful faces close together. Two waiters, exactly alike, came up and asked him in one voice if he wished more coffee. How he said he didn't he never knew, but he must have some way, for the twin white coats went away.

"Somebody will get the six million dollars, though, for the will is all legal and everything, Mr. Abbott says. Fool proof. He's awfully nice, Ward, terribly nice—"

The two Frans melted finally into one, and Ward had himself in hand again. His voice was easy smooth, even as he asked, "Sure the locket was the wrong one?"

'Oh, quite. There's no doubt about it. I saw Miss Raleigh's set, handled the earrings, and the brooch and compared them. Entirely different. Just a coincidence, I guess, that I found my locket on the corner of Third and Cedar Jan. 22."

Ward looked at his watch, "Have to make a phone call. Business. Will you excuse me?"

While Ward was talking to Ellen, Fran was at the table alone, thinking how kind Mr. Abbott had been, and how sorry he was that the locket wasn't Miss Raleigh's. Genuinely sorry. Because he had been so kind and so sorry, she had asked him impulsively to her wedding tomorrow afternoon.

CHURCHES JOIN FOR PICNIC

For the third consecutive year, members of the First Baptist and Spurgeon Memorial Methodist churches will hold a joint Sunday school picnic all day tomorrow at Irvine park.

Competition will be held between the two churches in various races, sports, and contests. A baseball game and stunts are scheduled for the afternoon. At the conclusion of the events, points will be totaled and a perpetual silver cup will be awarded the winning church. The cup is held by the Baptist church now. The Methodists won it the first year. Ribbon prizes will be awarded the children winners.

Leave at 8:30

The caravan to the picnic grounds will leave from the Baptist church at Main and Church streets and from the Methodist church at Broadway and Church streets at 8:30 a. m. Those needing transportation are asked to meet there, as well as those with extra room in their cars.

The picnic luncheon will be served at noon. Coffee, ice cream and punch will be provided by the churches. Guests are asked to bring their own table service.

Name Committees

Committees from the Methodist church in charge of the event are Mrs. Henry Donan's class, dinner committee; E. C. Martin, chairman, coffee committee; R. A. Schostag's class, tables; Lecil Slaback and Ralph Gordon, games; Miss Linda Paul's class, lemonade; W. O. Lesis, Bob Walton, Walter Fine, and P. E. Caley, transportation.

Baptist church committees include Ashley Knowlton, transportation; Ray Echols, games; A. M. Robinson and E. A. Bell, tables and coffee; Faholo Sunday school class, punch and ice cream; general chairman, Fred Sanford.

MARKET HAVING ANNIVERSARY

The thirteenth anniversary of the Broadway Meat Market, located in the Grand Central Market, Klamm and Nelson, proprietors, is being celebrated this week. It has been a long business association and a successful merchandising career.

The Broadway Meat Market was established on the principles of fair dealing, courteous service and a determination on the part of the proprietors to serve quality meats from sanitary equipment, and thus guarantee to the trade the best that is possible to buy in their line.

All through this long partnership Klamm and Nelson have not only sold to but have bought of other merchants, and thus helped to sustain the general business exchange which goes to make up the prosperity of any community.

They announce it is their determination to adhere strictly to their original purpose of giving their patrons the best meats obtainable and continue the same reasonable prices.

ENTERTAINMENT OF FAIR VISITORS TO BE PLANNED

Chamber of Commerce secretaries of Orange county communities will meet in the Santa Ana chamber offices at 3 p. m. Monday to make plans for entertaining San Diego Exposition visitors when they pass through Orange county.

The group will devise means to induce tourists to stop here and see the county's attractions. V. D. Johnson, county publicity director and secretary of the Orange chamber of commerce, conferred yesterday afternoon with Howard I. Wood, secretary of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce in regard to the conference.

WALLACE IN MEAT BUSINESS FOR SELF

Almost everybody in Santa Ana knows Bob Wallace. They not only know him but they like him. Bob put himself before the buying public when he was a dozen years old. His business preference was a meat market and he has never lost that identification. Years ago he worked for Arnold Peek, later with the Seidel markets, and now he has decided to go in business for himself.

Bob decided that after working for so many years for some one else he ought to get going for himself, so now he is supervising the meat department of Pandel's market, 520 No. Main street, and is now not only serving his many personal customers, but a number of the eating establishments.

Radio Roundup

TONIGHT'S PROGRAMS

By HOMER CANFIELD

Kipling's oft-repeated proverb about that east and west business won't mean a thing when "Strange As It Seems" takes to KHJ's wave length at 7:45 o'clock. For Barbara Jean Wong, a little Chinese girl, will be a little English girl and a very famous little English girl at that . . . none other than the popular title role character of Lewis Carroll's immortal "Alice in Wonderland," when the John Hix program is broadcast. Miss Wong was selected out of dozens of juvenile radio artists to enact the role of the very English little Alice.

You'll Want To Hear

HOLLYWOOD HOTEL
Because Warner Baxter will make one of his rare air appearances; Frances Langford's and Dick Powel's singing; Raymond Paige's orchestra—KHJ to CBS, 5 to 6 o'clock.

COL. STOOPNAGLE & BUDD
Radio's supreme crack-pots will split yours and America's sides when they come before the microphone for a half-hour of complete relaxation-KHJ-CBS, 6:30 o'clock.

SONS OF THE PIONEERS
Because their music is tops of the many cowboy-hillbilly exponents—KFWB, 7:30 to 7:45 o'clock.

STRANGE AS IT SEEMS
Because of the above story; and Felix Mills' swell descriptive music—is reason enough anytime—KHJ, 7:45 to 8 o'clock.

RICHARD HIMBER
The smoothest dance band on the airlanes; if this doesn't mean anything to you, David Ross' poetic readings should—KHJ-CBS, 8:30 to 9 o'clock.

WITCH'S TALES
The tale, "The Amulet"; Martha Wentworth as "Ol' Nancy"; pleasant dreams, kiddies—KHJ, 9 to 9:30 o'clock.

BEN BERNIE
His "bit of a fond cheerio" and "a bit of the tweet tweet" and "yowsah" makes a swell nightcap—KHJ, 9:30 to 10 o'clock.

ORVILLE KNAPP
The best dance band in the west, and in the nation's first bracket—KHJ, 10:30 to 11 o'clock.

New York Stocks

NEW YORK, Friday, May 24. (AP)—The stock market got back to first principals today as the bonus bill veto influence faded, and traders began to seek for new stimulants.

Some rails, sugars, steels and specialties found followings, but profit-taking appeared in other departments. The close was steady. Transfers approximated 1,200,000 shares.

LOUDER AND FUNNIER!

CHIEF CATO, of the State Highway Patrol, told The Journal yesterday the gold "courtesy" cards he has been issuing to "friends" are intended merely as identification cards.

Louder and funnier, Chief!

If that is why you issue gold courtesy cards, why bother with drivers' licenses? Give us all gold courtesy cards and throw away the expensive drivers' license system you employ.

As a matter of fact there isn't a thing on the gold courtesy cards to identify the possessor of one, except his name. They don't tell on the face of the card who the holder is, where he lives, how old he is, what his record as a driver is—nothing but the inference that the holder is a special friend of the chief's, and as such is to receive the "courtesies" of the highway patrol, which means he is to be dealt with lightly, if at all.

Louder and funnier, Chief!

"NRA OR ELSE!"

PRESIDENT GREEN, of the American Federation of Labor, threatens a nation-wide strike if the congress does not extend the life of the National Recovery Administration for two years.

Of course Mr. Green knows he is merely sounding off. He knows something about general strikes. He knows they never happen. He knows frequent attempts on a much smaller scale have soured him and all his associates on the idea. He knows he is only bluffing.

The sad part of Mr. Green's bluff is that it falls into ears cocked to receive any radical statement which might confirm the notion that the man who works with his hands is worse off than anybody else. In these uncertain times a lot of us enjoy some indulgence in self-pity. When someone comes along who is supposed to be a leader and tells us the very thing we have been thinking, we rise up and roar him to glory, regardless of how insincere he may or may not be.

Trying to use the strike club in a matter so vital that it ramifies into everybody's life, whether he be a man in overalls or a man with a white collar, is a cowardly act and utterly without logic or sound reasoning.

There would be a howl to high heaven if some branch of capital should make a similar threat.

Civil war would be threatened if the nation's farmers should lie down on the job.

We do not know who inspired Mr. Green. We hope it is not one of President Roosevelt's brain-trusters. The President has been most unfortunate in the selection of some of his helpers. While he has sought to give the nation a government of, for and by the people, a flock of his underlings have insisted on playing Tammany politics. When that fails, they think of blackmail. Mr. Green's "NRA or else" is just that.

Who inspired it?

California sightseers are advised not to miss seeing its two famed temples—Angelus and Shirley.

ACCIDENT PREVENTERS

DR. FREDERIC W. BANCROFT, associate professor of clinical surgery at Columbia university, reveals that there is a movement among medical men to foster the establishment of a long chain of medical first-aid stations along American highways for traffic accident victims.

Frequency of such accidents, he points out, makes it necessary to provide some means of giving first-aid treatment to victims. A series of first-aid stations would save many lives and prevent much suffering.

It might also have another good effect. The presence of such a chain of dressing stations might shock us into realizing how intolerable our traffic accident toll really is.

Properly shocked, we might some day be stirred into taking action that would make highway traffic safer.

Chief Cato of the State Highway Patrol, might even stop handing out gold "courtesy" cards to his friends.

In his encounters with dust storms, the farmer seems to be losing ground.

A COMMUNITY ASSET

IT IS instinctive with us Americans to regard our home as the place of shelter and comfort, the place to rest, relax and recuperate from the jolts and weariness of the workaday world. And a successful home, of course, does serve these purposes.

But some day, when severe injury or illness overtakes us, we learn, perhaps with surprise, that our home is not, after all, the place for us then. We are trundled complainingly off to a hospital, an institution we knew existed but of whose real manner of operation we healthy ones usually have only the sketchiest notions, if not downright mistaken ideas.

And there we find a place where a sick person can be made more comfortable than he can be at home and where there are facilities and a routine designed exactly for his needs. He falls into a pleasant reliance on the services that are provided to bring about both his immediate relief and his recovery. He receives treatment, attentions, and care that his home has no capabilities of furnishing, and he has the further satisfaction of realizing that he is not subjecting his loved ones to the arduous, unusual and often distasteful tasks which his nursing at home would entail.

A well-operated hospital is a wonderful asset to a community, and Orange county ought to consider itself fortunate in the possession of several. The average robust person who never is ill and who escapes serious accidents does not find out, unless he is brought close in touch through some family member's experience, just how valuable the hospital is. And there doesn't seem to be any way to teach him, because he never finds it out fully until he once has experienced as a patient the competent way in which the hospital handles his own case.

Thoughts while strolling: The blarney of those Irish bus conductors! To old and middle-aged ladies they chirp: "Hurry up, girls!" Nuisance name to write: Woollcott. Billy Rose has become better known than his wife, Fannie Brice. Look alikes: Jack Lait and Ed Wynn.

Mrs. Allan Ryan might have just drifted down from the Milky Way. Who remembers when braces were galluses? Silver would skyrocket with most of us down to the last dime. Cholly Knickerbocker's sky blue Rolls. Jimmy Durante suggests a drawing by Steig.

Add names that come up like a hiccup: Bernard Baruch. Best contributed jape of the month: John Chapman's yarn of the lady screaming "Someone has taken my pay and my aunt's pay!" And the cop yelling: "Cut out the pig Latin and tell what happened?" Most talented of the Bennets—Joan.

Modern Katherines the Great: Cornell, Hepburn and Bush. What's become of the wing? No present day sculptor so widely discussed as the eccentric George Grey Barnard. Does anyone buy one of those canes you can make into a prop-seat? Cyrena Van Gordon has Maxine Elliott's regal walk.

Modern Damon and Pythias: Lee Olwell and George Buckley. Marc Connelly used to stand twice to make a shadow. Now look! Speaking of iron constitutions, there's Norman Kerry. And still the life of parties. White vest edgings again. I used to go for them. Those mincing deflorates around Automats.

William Rhinelander Stewart is probably New York's best known beau. The most intimate friend of Vincent Astor and best man at his wedding, he swirls with the top drawer set as well as attending the off-hand Bohemianisms sponsored by A. C. Glumenthal. He squires a blueblood to one first night and the next a many splendored beauty of the stage or cinema. The superbly velveted type of man about town, wearing the mask of boredom but never quitting the chase. He is of illustrious ancestors and when there used to be rich persons he was one.

The popularity of Gene Tunney grows steadily. It is reflected by sports writers who razzed him gently at every opportunity—jibes about his bookishness, tall words and friendship for George Bernard Shaw. That phase has passed. Today the tone is of sincere respect. He has not the easy going approach of the lovable Dempsey or the picturesque background but respectable fans of boxing believe he did more to give the game class than any predecessor since Corbett. Champions from Sullivan down have, with minor exceptions, been loud-mouths, blow-hards. Tunney said he was going to quit when he fought Heeney and did. As to his ability, he licked the champion of champions, Dempsey, twice. Such an astute historian as Bill Corum believes Tunney in top form could slash the bungling Bear to ribbons in a few rounds. Jack McAuliffe says he could have licked Sullivan. Tunney's aloofness is largely shyness. He has stuck by old friends.

The most spectatular yet shortest lived success among theatrical team-ups continues to be Gallagher and Shean. No alliance before or since has equalled. It obscurities out of burlesque, they rode the top waves on the notes of an exquisitely mediocre but amazingly catchy song. Shean continued a life of exemplary habits with fame and fortune but Gallagher, then in his 50's, went a pace that soon cracked him up for permanent invalidism and the wheel chair. I was a press agent during his last professional days when in their Follies number in Boston he was led half blind to the wings to wait his cue in agony. Their sons, incidentally, are now carrying on over the radio with the original song.

Talks to Parents
—By Brooke Peters Church—

One of the most important things which school can teach is concentration. But it is very difficult, often impossible to do it without the help of the parents.

Susy always brought home a load of books to study. Though she had two study periods in school every day, nothing for the next day was ever prepared during this time, and the result was that she had from two to three hours work to do out of school.

Finally school and parents compared notes. First they made inquiries about the study periods. These, they found, were spent writing notes, reading forbidden books, and in half a dozen other ways best known to school children eager to waste time.

Teachers and parents combined and made a hard and fast rule. Two lessons must be prepared in school, and only an hour and a half could be devoted to study at home. Whatever was then unfinished was not excused, but marked unprepared and penalized accordingly.

In an amazingly short time Susy's whole method of work changed. Study periods were periods of hard and determined effort, and the hour and a half at home purposefully used, proved quite enough for preparing what was left.

Concentration means hard work, and must be learned like any other lesson. It is very easy to say that if a child is interested it will concentrate automatically. School work is not and cannot be always interesting. It often requires a deliberate effort to fix one's mind on algebra, for example, when spring is in the air and baseball season in full swing. And yet algebra is required in every school.

It is this conscious effort which it is the duty of home and school to encourage and cultivate in children.

Feeling Well Today?

Mind and Body

The old Latin saying, "Mens sana in corpore sano"—a sound mind in a sound body—conditions the state of the mind by that of the body. In a measure that is correct and this relationship has long been appreciated. Hunger, cold, fatigue, show their influences upon the mind unmistakably.

On the other hand, and this is not so clearly appreciated, the state of the body is as deeply influenced by the condition of the mind.

A bit of happy news can make one forget hunger. A depressing experience "takes the starch" out of one.

More significant are those hidden relationships witnessed in disease conditions.

Except for the ultra-modern individual who finds her mental problems a source of interest both to herself and others, most persons prefer to be ill in their bodies rather than in their minds. A physical illness seemingly casts no blame on the sufferer, whereas a mental or psychic illness implies active responsibility.

Still, whichever way people prefer to look on their illnesses, it is recognized today that mental and emotional states exercise a greater influence on body condition and functions, than holds for the other way round. The old Latin saying therefore deserves to be reversed and modified—"a sound body because of a healthy mind."

The distniction between, and the implied separation of mind from body, is purely arbitrary. Medicine prefers to regard the two as so inter-related that actual separation is impossible.

The pupil of the eye can be made to dilate or contract by thinking of a dark cellar or a blaze of light. Blushing may affect not only the superficial blood circulation of the face, but almost any part of the body. Thus, asthma has been described as blushing in the lungs.

The effective practice of medicine implies much more than the prescribing of drugs, or even the diagnosing of physical disabilities.

newcomer J. Burrwood Daly spoke long and loud on the legal aspects of a number of bills under consideration.

Kennedy listened patiently. When Daly finally concluded, Kennedy gravely moved that thereafter all claim cases requiring a legal opinion be turned over to the Philadelphian for a written report.

The motion passed unanimously and Daly was preening himself on this unexpected recognition when Kennedy quietly observed:

"The distinguished member will be pleased to know, I am sure, that we already have 1400 cases on file awaiting his learned attention."

MERRY-GO-ROUND

MOTOR moguls secretly are much perturbed over word that the NRA planning and research division is preparing another critical report on the industry. The division's first report severly condemned a number of labor practices in operation in auto plants.

The Washington office of the Automobile Manufacturers' association has added several former NRA officials to its staff, but it has not headed off the new investigation. . . . Lean-faced Harper Sibley, new head of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, although a banker by profession, owns a 4000-acre ranch in California, a 350-acre farm near Rochester, N. Y., and is the largest individual land owner in Illinois. His corn farm in that state is the largest in the world and his AAA crop reduction last year ran into five figures. . . . Of the senate's 96 members, 67 either have practiced law or have had legal training. Eight have been, or still are, newspaper publishers. . . . With membership on nine committees, Maine's soft-spoken Senator Wallace White has the largest number of committee assignments in congress. . . . Huey Long's newspaper, The American Progress, carries the Blue Eagle upside down. In fact it carries two Blue Eagles upside down. Huey explains this as the "Double Eagle." . . . Oregon's Representative William A. Ekwall created a stir in the house lobby by appearing in a tropical sun helmet. Ekwall informed startled colleagues that he was wearing the bonnet as a protection against rain and not the sun. . . . A. R. Glancy, former NRA compliance officer, during a recent visit to the Blue Eagle roost, looked in on 30-year-old General Counsel Blackwell Smith and greeted him with the remark: "Well, Blacky, how is the debating society getting on these days?"

Earlie home, where Dame Juice doth announce that she hath invited Cousin Cuthbert and his familie to go a-driving in our petrol buggy, and I do say, "Oh, very well," albeit with no greate gusto, for Lord! Cousin Cuthbert do be one of those people who are always sure you're on the wrong road, his wife do be one of those women who count the number of different state license plates they see, and the children do shriek to stop at every popcorn wagon they pass. And so we do go a-driving.

SUNDOWN STORIES

VICTORY

By Mary Graham Bonner

Around the council fire that evening Top Notch realized that the buffalo hunt would be a make-believe one. It was what, of course, the Indian chief had said when he had first arrived—that they wanted to pretend to be living in the old days.

Now the plans were made and the enemies they were to drive back were "pretend" enemies called the Tribe of Arrowheads.

With beating drum and shouting and jumping the Indians and the Puddle Muddlers ran over their rough roads and cried:

"Go back to your own plains, Tribe of Arrowheads!"

"We will drive you away and save our buffalo."

"We will hunt our wandering buffalo and bring them back to our plains.

"We will have buffalo meat, too, and their skins to keep us warm."

Jelly Bear, Honey Bear, the cubs Blacky and Jupiter, Rip, Top Notch, Christopher Columbus Crow, Sweet Face, Willy Nilly and all the Indians drove back the make-believe enemies. They captured with great showing of strength buffalo so large they could hardly carry them.

And at last, weary, out-of-breath, the victorious Indians and Puddle Muddlers heard the cry of complete victory from Big Chief Eagle.

They danced because of their victory. Then they sat around the council fire and the Indians told stories of bravery and courage of Indians who had lived long, long before.

It was wonderful to pretend the old days were again with them, but of a sudden Big Chief arose and shouted: "The smoke signals!"

Another opportunity a la Ingalls. The House opened the door and the senate closed it. It was just another knock which failed to penetrate senate acoustics. So the soldier bonus, like o' man river, just keeps rollin' along. I had in mind a number of Santa Ana veterans who were vulnerable, and intended to wrap an arm in bandages, get a piece of adhesive tape over one eye, slip under a pair of crutches that the insurance company drove me off of, and ask for a loan; but the hard headed senators spoiled the solicitation. Guess I'll have to go back to the SERA.

Will fishing make a liar out of a truthful man, or does it just seem that way? A local store offered prizes for the three best prevarications. Modesty prevented a number of my friends entering the contest. Fish stories began a long time ago. I think the one Jonah brought in started the competition, and it's been going on ever since.

We have plenty of agitation but too little response to the publicity appeals to make highways safe for driving. Before the Breakfast club recently a request was made for a more intelligent use of the roads. It was a sane and sensible suggestion about lanes, their use, etc., etc. After the speaker finished his remarks the idea came to me that we should have a committee on automotive forbearance. Too many listen and fail to function. We have laws and laws and laws, and then we have too many to whom the law means nothing. Consequently the mounting toll of fatalities.

Over at Orange they give you an orange if you attend Rotary club meetings. I met an orange grower the other day who had attended one of the sessions, and he said he wasn't going back any more. The orange he received was so much larger than the ones he raised he got sore about it.

Four days after Rod Bacon came home from a fishing trip he was twisting and turning like a contortionist. It took a doctor to find out that he had a woodtick under his arm. The Edison manager was so rejoiced and relieved that he put the interloper in a glass jar and displayed it with great glee. An inspection a few days later revealed that the woodtick had gone Dionne. And paraphrasing Joe Penner, Rodney now says: "Do you wana buy a tick?"

Maybe the pedestrian has preferred position when he is between the yellow lines at intersections, but he has a better position if he assumes the auto driver is not going to recognize this protective lane. Take time out and see the kind of courtesy and right-of-way the pedestrian gets at any intersection not signal blocked. I tried it yesterday at Sixth and Main with Harvey Gardner. He had more discretion than I did. He waited while old man venture pushed right into the center and he came darn near getting pushed right back again.

I notice The Journal is running a series of biographical thumbnail sketches. One of the questions is "where were you born," and the interrogation is valid, but when some wisecrack wants to know "why" that's projecting the personal and impertinent to the point where some one is likely to get a smack. But why kick, it's all intended as good clean fun.

Telephone call from my friend State Highway Commisioner Phil Stanton. And was I surprised. Phil has been fighting a toxic condition for several months. He had a few bad teeth extracted and threw 'em in old man toxic's face. Now the old eye is brighter, the blood stream is clearing up, and one of these days the highway commissioner will be going strong again. Phil remarked that everybody had been nice to him during his sickness. Well, why shouldn't they be? He has been nice to everybody, and that covers a period of state activities which runs much longer than many of us can remember.
